TWO OHIO BANK HEADS KIDNAPED BY BANDIT TRIO

New Riegel Cashier and Assistant Abducted, Then Freed.

AUTO IS WRECKED

One Robber Caught After Car Hits Tree; Others Pursued.

By The Associated Press

TIFFIN, O., Feb. 13 — One of three robbers who kidnaped and robbed two officers of the New Riegel Banking company, nine miles west of here today, was captured less than two hours later when their automobile was wrecked in their flight. Posses said they were closing in on the other two.

The robbers' automobile crashed in rounding a curve a mile north of Bascom, six miles west of here, at high speed. Two of the men fled into nearby woods.

Most of the money, estimated at more than $1,200 was recovered.

Frank Wetzel, the cashier, and Orland Gruss, assistant, were found a short time after the kidnaping about two and a half miles from here. They had been released unharmed.

Three men entered the bank, scooped up the cash and forced the two officers to accompany them in their small sedan. They fled to the north.

The captured youth was not identified.

Most of the male residents of New Riegel, a village of less than 300 persons, immediately started in pursuit. The robbers, however, doubled back to Bascom, then headed northwest to Tiffin.

Sheriffs George Burkett of Seneca county and Tom H. Past of Sandusky county and Fostoria police drove toward Bascom when they received information the robbers were near there. They arrived as the fugitives' machine overturned.

Officials threw a cordon around the woods to capture the other two kidnapers.

JAPS' ATTACK AT HIGH MARK

Heaviest Bombardment of "War" Leveled at Chapei and Woosung.

PRELUDE TO "BIG DRIVE"

Both Sides Prepare for Crucial Jap Assault, Expected Next Week.

(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Feb. 13—Japanese airplanes and big guns pounded the wrecks of Chapei and Woosung today with the heaviest bombardment since the fighting began two weeks ago. The barrage, they said, stopped a Chinese counter-attack.

It was a prelude to the big Japanese drive which probably will begin early next week. As a blizzard swept across the Woosung sector, Lieutenant General Kenkichi Ueda, who will command the entire Japanese force, arrived at his headquarters and issued a statement to the effect that he had come only to protect Japanese life and property and that if possible he would avoid unnecessary hostilities.

Chinese Set for Attack

Under cover of the storm the Chinese prepared their army of 25,000 men to withstand an assault by the Japanese forces of about the same size.

Promising reports of peace negotiations, through the medium of the ministers of the United States, Great Britain and France, also were shot to pieces when Nelson T. Johnson, American minister,

Chinese Rush to Neutral Area

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Feb. 13—Hundreds of terrified Chinese surged up to the north boundary of the international settlement early this morning trying to push across into comparative safety of neutral ground.

Many of them had been waiting all night, pressing close to the barbed wire barricades, as artillery rumbled behind them.

Soon after daybreak, United States marines guarding a part of the boundary let down the bars and passed through any who had documents entitling them to enter the settlement.

Japs Ready To Deliver Ultimatum

(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Feb. 13 — Japanese forces strengthened by a new division of troops will open their big drive upon Shanghai next week, it was stated in government circles today, unless a new proposal for creation of a neutral zone around the city and the withdrawal of Chinese troops is accepted.

The proposal will be made to diplomatic representatives of the United States, Great Britain and France, in Shanghai. If they decline to make the request, it was said, the Japanese themselves will deliver an ultimatum to the Chinese.

In the meantime a foreign office spokesman said Japan would remain in the League of Nations, even if China's demand for consideration of the Sino-Japanese question is brought before the full assembly next week. Official circles added the government didn't believe the assembly could do much anyway.

Delegates Face Busy Program Today as Sessions Begin.

SPEAKERS ON PROGRAM

Dayton Educator and Cincinnati Minister Address Meetings.

After hearing a proposal last night by Dr. James Thomas of Cincinnati that churches be kept open seven days a week to furnish wholesome associations for the country's youth, the Ohio young men's conference today swung into a full day's session. The 225 delegates faced a program from early morning until after the reception tonight.

Dr. Frank D. Slutz, Dayton educator, was the speaker this morning at a session in the First Presbyterian church on the "Meaning of Citizenship." Dr. Slutz advocated the extension of democracy to cover all forms of life, the study of foreign neighbors to promote world peace, and the teaching of the science of home-making to prevent the ever-present divorce problem. Dr. Slutz is educational advisor of Chicago Teachers college.

The day started with breakfast at 7:30 a. m. at Hotel Marion for discussion group leaders and the committee on the Young Men's state camp. W. S. Chambers of the state Y. M. C. A. in Columbus and Victor Geiger, committee chairman, were in charge.

Discuss Questions

The session at the church began at 9 a. m. with an organ prelude by Mrs. Harry T. Williams, a song service and a devotional service, conducted by Rev. Albert Slack of Marion.

Following the talk by Dr. Slutz, the conference divided into discussion groups to analyze the points given in his speech. Adult leaders and counselors met at this time with J. Edward Sproul of New York City, national Y. M. C. A. council secretary on young men's work for an institute on club leadership.

The main points left with the delegates by Dr. Slutz as a theme of the discussion, were, first, that citizenship is a gift and that everyone must do something to earn it; second, that what each citizen does concerning his country is a matter of importance; third, every citizen

AUDITOR NOT READY FOR FILING RETURNS

New Tax Blanks Will Not Arrive In Time for Listing Monday.

Marion county taxpayers can not begin listing their personal property Monday as scheduled, County Auditor Earl E. Thomas announced today. Delay in the arrival of necessary blanks will hold up the beginning of the listing period until the middle of the week the auditor said.

Auditor Thomas and his assistants are working overtime to complete arrangements for the distribution of the six-page blanks on which personal property will be listed under the state's new tax setup. The auditor hoped to have these blanks in the mail by Tuesday, and to begin taking property listings by Wednesday.

Owners of personal property are expected to list their property with the auditor between Feb. 15 and March 31, and to pay half of the year's tax at the time it is listed. Much personal property taxable in previous years will not be taxed under the new law. Automobiles will not be taxed as personal property, nor will household furniture or musical instruments not used in business. Some forms of property, such as farm machinery, are taxed at a stated per cent of the true value.

Marion attorneys have been provided with sample listing blanks to enable them to advise persons needing assistance in making up listings.

HURLEY REFUSES TO REMAIN AT HEARING

War Head Walks Out on Senate Group Following Second Clash.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—Secretary Hurley today walked out of a senate committee hearing on Philippine independence, asserting he could not "remain here to be called a liar."

Hurley left the meeting after Senator King, Democrat of Utah, had told the secretary he resented "as untrue" a statement the war department head had made.

His voice shaking and ringing angrily through the committee room, Hurley leaped to his feet and asserted with vigorous gestures: :

"You can run your star chamber proceedings in here and call me a liar and however your witnesses lost you won't compel me to remain here and take it."

The incident climaxed very stormy sessions of the senate investigation. At the previous one Hurley became engaged in an [illegible] dispute with Democrats who interrupted [illegible]

HOLDUPS SOLVED BY ARREST HERE

JURY TO GET CASE TODAY

Attorneys Start Arguments In Hart Second Degree Murder Trial.

DEFENDANT TAKES STAND

Defense Counsel Intimate Another Person May Have Stabbed Addison.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Feb. 13—With two attorneys waiting to complete their arguments the jury sitting in the case of William Hart, 35, Mt. Vernon grocer charged with second degree murder in the death of George Addison, will not start its deliberation until late this afternoon.

Addison died in a Columbus hospital a week after being stabbed in the back during a drinking party at his home south of here.

Defense attorneys intimated this morning in their talks to the jury that Addison was stabbed by some other person and that there was some doubt as to what caused his death Prosecutor Fannie Myers asked that Hart be sent to the penitentiary for life

Hart was placed on the witness stand late yesterday afternoon and his testimony was concluded at a night court session. He gave an account of his actions at the party at the home of Addison, when Addison was stabbed. He denied stabbing Addison

His story of the fight agreed with other defense witnesses. Coming from the house in response to his brother Luke's call for help he said he ran to the porch and struck down a couple of men with his fist. When he reached the group who were beating his brother, he said he took a knife away from Andy Stewart of Columbus and the fighting stopped there. Closing the knife he reentered the house. He said that he turned the knife over to Stewart.

Benjamin Olda, special prosecutor, brought out Hart's previous criminal record on cross examination when Hart admitted that in 1920 he was extradited from California where he had fled after a brawl in which he was "protecting" another brother. He was indicted than for murder in Virginia, a police officer dying from injuries. He was convicted with several others of assault and battery and fined $500 with a jail sentence of one year. On another occasion, he said, he was arrested with another brother who was accused of driving while intoxicated but was not tried.

BOARD TURNS DOWN VET HOSPITAL PLAN

Expansion of Present Facilities Urged; Marion Among Bidders.

The federal hospitalization board today recommended that no new hospital be built in Ohio, but that present federal hospital facilities in the state be expanded, according to an Associated Press bulletin from Washington, D. C., today.

This recommendation removes the possibility that the federal institution, recommended to take care of hospitalization of war veterans, might be located in or near Marion. This city was one of 44 in Ohio to submit bids for the site of the building.

Location of the building in Cincinnati as a memorial to the memory of Nicholas Longworth, former speaker of the house, was regarded likely several weeks ago, following a survey by representatives of the federal hospitalization board.

MAN ADMITS 12 ROBBERIES

Local Police Nab Cecil Lewis, 24, When He Returns from Indiana.

THREE COMPANIONS IN PEN

List of Crimes in Central Ohio Cities Confessed to Officers.

Twelve grocery store and dairy holdups, a Lima building and loan company robbery, a Marion filling station holdup and the theft of half a dozen automobiles within the last 18 months were cleared up by the confession of Cecil Lewis, 24, of Marion, who was arrested at 2 p. m. yesterday by city police as the fourth member of a gang responsible for the crimes.

Police Chief William E. Marks said that Lewis has been wanted in half a dozen cities, including Marion, for months, and twice has narrowly escaped capture before. Lewis was arrested within a few hours of his return to Marion from Indiana where he has been hiding out, authorities said.

Admits Accusations

Lewis readily admitted that he participated in a series of crimes unmatched in number by any person arrested here in years. He also admitted that he was a member of a gang of Marion men who figured in the crimes, stating that the headquarters for the gang's operations was in Columbus.

Three of Lewis' companions are said by authorities to be serving prison sentences. Wilbur Clark of Marion, according to Chief Marks, is serving a five-year term in the penitentiary for automobile stealing, having been convicted in Columbus several months ago. Earl Birchem and Forest Dixon, both of this city, and both of whom were named by Lewis as his associates in the gang, are said by police to be serving sentences of 20 to 40 years in the Tennessee state prison for holding up a Tennessee bank. They were convicted about six months ago.

Lewis told police that the series of crimes, for which he could not furnish exact dates, began 18 months ago Since Dixon and Birchem have been in prison for six months, most of the crimes must have been committed within one year's time.

Authorities from Galion, Mansfield, Lima and other cities invaded by the gang were expected here today to attempt to identify Lewis. When a Galion grocery store clerk failed to recognize Lewis as the man who robbed his store several months ago, Lewis at police station last night refreshed the clerk's memory with details of the holdup which made it possible for the clerk to definitely identify him, police said.

Filling Station Holdup

The holdup of the Shell filling station at the intersection of Kenton pike and Silver street several months ago in which $288 was taken was the only one of the crimes committed in Marion. Police last May chased a Roosevelt sedan which Lewis and Wilbur Clark had stolen from Columbus, Lewis recalled yesterday. Police chased the Victim Forced To Walk Back to City; Fails To Get "Lift."

Twenty minutes after Walter Smith of Mansfield reported to the police at 1 a. m. today that he had been robbed of $12 in cash and his automobile, five miles east of the city on the Harding highway, the car was found by the police parked on Church street near Main.

Smith told the police he was on his way to Mansfield at 10:30 last night and when about five miles east of the city, two men in a car crowded him to the side of the road and he was forced to stop to avoid going into the ditch.

The men, he said, after alighting from their car, held him up at the point of a pistol and took $12 in cash from him and while one of them drove their car the other took possession of his machine. They drove toward Marion. Unable to obtain a "lift" he said he had walked the entire distance into the city.

One of the men he described as being about five feet 11 inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds and about 22 years of age, he also described him as being round face and light complexioned. He said he had been unable to get a good view of the other man and could not give his description.

SEES BANKING AID AS BUSINESS BOON

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 13—Prediction that all businesses would benefit through the government's efforts to restore confidence in the nation's banking institutions was made by United States Senator Robert J. Bulkley, Democrat of Ohio, here yesterday.

Addressing the annual midwinter meeting of the Ohio Bankers association, Bulkley declared there would be no inflation. He added that there "is no partisanship in banking and economic legislation."

The current business sag, Bulkley said, has revealed the weak spots in banking and credit systems and at the same time presented an opportunity to remove them.

"No madam, not even the lamp should smoke in the parlor" AGREED MR. SENCABAUGH

...and he fixed it—

MRS. DIETZ was plainly vexed. "Why, that pesky oil lamp smokes all over the place," she declared with great emphasis. "I reckon that lamp has no business smoking in my parlor when the men folks can't . . ."

Mr. Sencabaugh, who hadn't sold her the lamp, who, in fact, had never met the lady before, smiled pleasantly and agreed.

After a careful examination of the offending lamp, he diagnosed the trouble as a poorly adjusted wick. He thereupon gave Mrs. Dietz complete instructions for the operation and care of her new kerosene lamp.

STRICTLY SPEAKING, all this was no part of Mr. Sencabaugh's job. He was, as a representative of the Standard Oil Company, selling storekeepers illuminating oil in wholesale lots. But whenever word came that some new convert to oil illumination was having trouble, his orders plainly stated that he was to set things aright if possible.

"The Chinese expect a powerful Japanese attack soon on all fronts," Tsai said, and were prepared for it.

The first close-range clash between the two forces at Woosung occurred late in the afternoon when a party of 15 Japanese soldiers crossed Woosung creek. They immediately encountered rifle fire from the Chinese defenders and were forced to retreat. They captured a single Chinese soldier, however, whom they dragged to headquarters and questioned.

He said he was 20 years old and had been in the army two months. He enlisted, he said, "to get something to eat."

Probe Possible Negligence in Woman's Death

By The Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 13—Three separate investigations were started by officials today into charges that coroner's assistants carried a live woman to the county morgue where she died several hours later despite last minute efforts to save her life.

A tentative pronouncement of Dr. Edward L. Miloslavich, police pathologist, that Mrs Esther Falk, 32, apparently succumbed yesterday from exposure, but might have been revived, set the inquiries in motion.

A chemical analysis of substance taken from the woman's body was awaited by Dr. Miloslavich and until the results of the tests are known, he said he would withhold definite conclusions.

Mrs. Falk, mother of two children, was found apparently dead, beside a small pond near her home. Falk, a painter, said she had been distraught by illness of their four-year-old son and probably wandered away in her sleep.

"I shall be 50 on my next birthday."

How Smooth is Smooth?

Almost any new pavement is smooth. When they're six or seven years old the wrinkles begin to put in an appearance . . . That is, except on brick-surfaced pavements . . . (Those rough, hard-riding brick streets you're thinking of are probably 30 or 40 years old!) Modern brick-surfaced pavements stay smooth . . . That means that there is practically no maintenance expense. And THAT means that you are saved from higher taxes. Think it over. Talk it over with your city or county officials.

COMMITTEES REPORT CREDIT AID BILL O K

Action Follows Assurance of Mills That Measure Will Free 10 Billions.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—Speedy committee work cleared the way today for action in both house and senate the first of next week on the new bill to expand national credit.

In both branches the measure was given favorable report by banking committees after only one day's consideration. The house is to take it up Monday, the senate beginning debate the next day.

The committees acted on the assurance of Secretary Mills of the treasury that the legislation would release ten billion dollars of credit, and "start the upward movement we are all looking for."

A change in the senate committee will make sure that the legislation helps small banks The amendment limited the federal reserve system's rediscounting of paper not hitherto eligible, to banks with a capitalization of $500,000 or less This is a one-year provision As a permanent factor the reserve system will have power to aid banks threatened with failure after they have exhausted all eligible paper.

HOOVER SENTIMENT SEEMS ON UPGRADE

Leaders Optimistic as First Real Blast of Campaign Is Loosed.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 Fast cumulating political events today brought into the open militant campaigning by supporters of leading contenders for the year's presidential prize.

Republican Lincoln day gatherings resounded last night with predictions of the re-election of Herbert Hoover, and were hailed as the opening move in aggressive efforts in his behalf.

The answer to the stop-Roosevelt efforts of various party leaders came in a rally in Washington of supporters of Franklin D Roosevelt.

Signs of pro-Hoover optimism were seen in the refusal of his managers to file in North Dakota's primary contests, whose lists close today This was taken to mean they consider his renomination assured without struggling over disputed states largely dominated by insurgent elements. To this was added a decision by Senator Hiram Johnson not to offer his name in North Dakota, reducing the chances of his making any race against the president.

The Roosevelt men in the capital were led by Homer S. Cummings, veteran Democratic warhorse and a band of eleven senators, who issued from their huddle with word that the time had come for aggressive action.

PICTURE LINCOLN AGAINST OWN PARTY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—A belief that Abraham Lincoln would not have approved Republican policies from 1920 to 1932 was expressed last night by Governor George White of Ohio, in an address to the Women's National Democratic club.

"It is difficult to conceive that Lincoln, if living today, would approve the policies and measure of his own party," the Ohio Democrat said.

HOOVER URGES UNITY IN LINCOLN DAY TALK

President Pictures Present Period as Most Trying Since Civil War Days.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb 13—The current period of stress is considered by President Hoover the most difficult, in its pressure against the national foundations, since Lincoln's day.

He voiced his sentiment in his Lincoln birthday address last night, asserting conditions require "just as greatly the moral courage, the organized action, the unity of strength and the sense devotion in every community as in war."

But the President expressed confidence in the power and courage of the people.

"They are rallying to their responsibilities. They are thus doing more than serving their immediate needs They are but stressing the very foundations of self-government. They are defending the very principles of liberty and freedom. They are showing the patience and the steadfastness of Abraham Lincoln."

The president's speech, delivered from the study in the White House in which Lincoln labored, climaxed national observance of his predecessor's birthday anniversary. Radio carried his words over the nation.

Where Are We In World?

A SERMONETTE

BY REV. ROBERT W. HUCKE, B. D.
Pastor of First Reformed Church

"For I know Him whom I have believed"—2nd Tim. 1:12.

THESE words bear their fruit from having their root firmly planted in Jesus Christ. The Lord was no stranger to the writer of these words, neither was His name merely a fine name to repeat in times of necessity. To Paul, Christ actually existed and was more real to him than was the material world round about him. To him Christ was all in all. No wonder he could live and die in the heroic manner that he did. It was because he knew the Lord. By this he means to say that "He walked and talked with Him." That he worshipped Him. That he served Him daily. And so Paul reaped the great spiritual harvest of "peace within his own heart" because he knew and trusted his Saviour.

Today the world seems to be in a chaotic condition. Men and women are suffering from lack of food and clothing. Others are losing their homes, and sin and vice are running rampant. One of the great writers of antiquity said in his day, "Where in the world are we today," and we of today ask the same question, where are we today? We are in the harvest field reaping according as we have sown. We followed the shadows of this world and shadows we are reaping, we stretched every nerve for bubbles and bubbles we are attaining. We spent all for tinsel and tinsel we have. Or in other words, we did not know the Lord Jesus, or if we did, we were not sincere and honest enough to follow him completely and to put his principles into practice. Listen to Him, "If a man would follow Me, let him deny himself, take up his cross and follow Me." What a splendid opportunity the followers of the Lord have to Magnify this Lenten season, the season of self-denial, not out of our bounty but from our little. Is not this what makes denial beautiful? And as we so do, we have the opportunity of getting so well acquainted with Jesus, by worshipping Him regularly and having our spiritual faith strengthened that come what may, we like Paul may say, "I know whom I have believed." Then we can truly be true Christians.

"I would be true for these are those who trust me;
I would be pure for there are those who care;
I would be strong for there is much to suffer;
I would be brave for there is much to dare;
I would be friend of all—the foe, the friendless;
I would be giving and forget the gift;
I would be humble for I know my weakness;
I would look up—and laugh and love—and lift."

ON MEETING PROGRAM

DR. W. R. KING

DR. M. A. DAWBER

Ministers, Laymen from 6 Counties To Be Here

First Reformed Church To Be Scene of Interdenominational Conference on Home Missionary Work Monday; Leaders To Address Meeting.

Several hundred ministers and layman of six counties are expected in Marion Monday for the interdenominational church conference to be held at the First Reformed church.

Dr. W. R. King of New York City and Dr. M. A. Dawber of Philadelphia, Pa., national religious leaders, will speak at the conference. Dr. Charles L. Zorbaugh of Columbus, Presbyterian state executive, will preside.

The conference has been arranged by the Ohio Council of Churches and the National Home Missions council and will be one of five held in Ohio this month.

Ministers and laymen from churches in Marion, Delaware, Union, Morrow, Crawford and Wyandot counties will convene here for the day to engage in free discussion of local church situations and conditions and to consider an effective method to eliminate competitive expenditures in local communities in the granting of home mission aid.

Dr. King is executive secretary of the Home Missions council which links the home mission agencies of most of the Protestant denominations in a nationwide cooperative program.

Dr. Dawber is rural church specialist on the staff of the Methodist Episcopal board of home missions.

The conference will open at 10 a. m. with a talk by Dr. King on the subject, "Constructive Comity and Positive Cooperation." At the afternoon session opening at 1:30 p. m., Dr. Dawber will speak on the subject, "The Country Church and Cooperation." Both men will speak at night, Dr. King on "Home Missions for Today" and Dr. Dawber on "The Country Church and the New Social Order."

The local conference will carry forward a nationwide movement launched at the Home Missions congress in Washington, D. C. in December of 1930, looking toward closer cooperation and in some cases, actual consolidation of churches in both urban and rural territory.

PLANS SERVICE FOR SCOUTS

Members of All Troops In City Invited To Hear Rev. James O. Dodd.

The annual union Boy Scout service will be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at Central Christian church. The service also will mark the closing of the two weeks evangelistic campaign at the church.

Scouts from all troops in Marion have been urged to attend the service. They will meet at the church at 7:15 p. m. and march into the church. Their seats will be in a reserved section in the center pews.

Rev. Mr. Dodd, who holds the rank of a 10-year veteran scout, will deliver a sermon on the subject, "Jesus, the Great Scout." Harry Box of Lexington, Ky. evangelistic soloist and song leader, will sing "The Rescue."

The Boy Scout oath and law will be used in the service, and will be given by the scouts.

Scout Executive Arthur S. Brooks will attend and sit with the boys. Scout masters and members of troop committees will be present.

Before coming to Marion, Rev. Mr. Dodd was district scout commissioner at New Philadelphia, and is especially interested in the success of the Sunday night service.

Although the invitation to accept Christ will be given Sunday night at the close of the sermon, the pastor announced today that no effort will be made to persuade the scouts to become identified with church.

HOLDUPS SOLVED BY ARREST HERE

Local Police Nab Cecil Lewis, 24, When He Returns from Indiana.

car on Sheridan road and fired at it, but the occupants escaped.

Loot obtained in the series of holdups aggregates more than $1,000, according to Police Captain Ira Shrock who checked over the details of the various crimes with Lewis. He said that Lewis admitted taking part in the robbery of 10 stores, all of them Kroger or A & P groceries, and two dairies, and confessed that he helped steal several of the six automobiles used by the gang in its activities.

Authorities had not decided this morning where Lewis would be prosecuted. It is probable, they said, that he will be turned over to authorities in other cities where he had taken part in more than one crime, or where the nature of the offense was more serious.

A likely bidder for custody of Lewis will be Lima authorities who want him for allegedly participating in the holdup of a building and loan company there several months ago. The amount of loot obtained in this holdup, as well as other details, were not known here last night, but Lewis admitted taking part in it and said that his "split" in the loot amounted to $38. He named Birchem and Wilbur Clark as his companions on this holdup.

List of Robberies

Theft of four automobiles in Columbus in which Lewis took part, according to his confession, may result in his prosecution in that city if authorities find that it is not advisable to prosecute him in Lima. Lewis escaped from Columbus authorities in a chase in which Clark was captured several months ago.

Lewis said he and Earl Birchem robbed a Galion Kroger store of $190, that he, Birchem and Clark robbed a Mansfield Kroger store of $90, and that the same three robbed a Mt. Vernon dairy of $179. Other robberies in which he and one or more of the other three took part include a $160 A. & P. grocery holdup in Mt. Vernon, a $50 Kroger store holdup in Richwood, robbery of a Shelby grocery of $50, robbery of a Mt. Vernon A. & P. grocery in which $36 was taken, the holdup of a dairy in Newark in which $85 was taken, the holdup of an A. & P. grocery in Fort Wayne when $95 was taken, the $70 holdup of an Upper Sandusky Kroger store, and the holdup of a Kroger store in Mansfield in which $90 was taken.

Automobiles stolen include a Dodge stolen from Lima, a Reo-volt stolen from Columbus, a Chrysler Pedge stolen from Columbus, a Hupmobile from Columbus, an Oldsmobile from Lima, and a Buick roadster from Columbus.

Just Things

Valentines

THE sun, moon, planets and stars could all shine at once today and even then we wouldn't be happy. In fact we may still go out in the garden and eat worms A glance at the calendar will put out an inkling as to why. Yes, we got a valentine and it wasn't American Beauties or English violets either. It was just an—oh, well, you know what kind it was. We admit it deceived us, for like Cinderella's coach, what we thought was an invitation for a nice week-end party or at least a dinner, turned out to be a scurrilous valentine First of all it started out by casting aspersions on our state of single blessedness and then proceeded to tell why we are what we are. They must have seen us in our depression suit, for according to the picture our skirts are too short, then they mentioned something that led us to believe our nose was not patterned after the Greek gods; going further the friend stated boldly that our face was too sour, (would you have us going about like giggling villikens alway?) our "style is all wrong;" our lily white hands are in a class with the rosy tomato and our complexion akin to saffron. (May we add we lay down our hard-earned cash for said complexion.) And this is why our hopes are hopeless. Then as if to add insult to injury the lady in the picture is holding a pooch that would enrage any alley cur to a point of attacking his best friend. Well, of course, it might have been worse, they might have thought of large appetites, avoirdupois or it might be some one who remembered our interpretations of the square dance. Even the pooch might have been a cat, but anyhow we hope they get warts.

Gold

THERE are some choice necklaces and pins coming into their own with the revival of old jewelry and after all, they really are beautiful. And gold is soft, expensive looking metal and gives one such a feeling of elegance. We like lockets too, because they fill everyone with such a yen to know whether it is a lock of hair or a picture they hold. And then there are the breastpins with whole porch names on them or such endearing terms as "baby," "pet," and so on.

Suppers

THIS is for folks who trot gleefully through a season of "church suppers," chuckle inwardly and whisper audibly over the banquet they get for a mere pittance without ever giving a thought to the folks that get them up. We were the same way until we got some "back stage" experience recently. From now on we at least will try to look our appreciation if nothing more. It takes a lot of planning and engineering to figure out a menu, gauge the crowd so there will be enough but no leftovers and then get it served without keeping people waiting and while the food is hot but it takes courage and then some to face the staggering pile of dishes when the supper is over, especially when you're "full" of ham, applesauce, pie and all the rest of the menu.

Students Rate Neatness Above Beauty, Questionnaire Reveals

BY JOSEPHINE RUDDLESTON

THE modern young man seems to have quite definite ideas concerning his potential brids, particularly about her appearance If the answers set down on a lengthy questionnaire recently submitted to students of a large college are an honest reflection of his opinion And, we have no reason to suspect that they are anything but his honest opinion.

Surprising as it may seem to many of you potential brides, feminine beauty in itself was not stressed at all in the majority expression of these potential husbands

Intelligence in the fair damsels won first place, unselfishness, energy, loyalty and domesticity, along with health and neatness followed . unusual physical beauty ranking very low on the list

But to counteract the possible idea that these potential husbands are not particularly interested in the appearance of their future brides, let me hasten to assure you that next to intelligence, NEATNESS came second.

One young man expressed himself rather more in detail than the others by stating "My humble wish," he wrote, "is that my wife will be sufficiently handsome so that no one will pity me Neatness and taste are far more important than outstanding beauty. I could never love a slattern."

Neatness and Beauty

Another young man stated that he preferred his future wife to care for the details of cleanliness and neatness of her person far more than that she be more than average good looking.

"When a girl is careless about the condition of her clothing," he stated, "she is apt to be just as careless about other things Besides, the prettier a girl, the more essential it is that she groom herself carefully, for nothing spoils a man's dream so much as to have a beautiful girl and then to find out that she doesn't care if the heels on her dancing pomps are run over as long as her lip stick is on straight."

These are only two examples of the attitude expressed by the young men, but they express the viewpoint of a big majority.

Almost without exception they stated that a girl who was properly groomed and clean, looked much better to them than the girls who might claim more beauty, but who had not learned that the secret to a man's heart isn't through a pretty face or the proverbial cook book but through neatness and cleanliness

For some reason, not one of those young men seemed to think that a majority of girls could be unusually pretty and still be neat and clean.

So, let's get the final word by making every effort to enhance our physical beauty as well as give attention to the details of cleanliness and neatness that these young men are insisting upon.

Daily Proverb—"How few know their own good, or knowing it pursue."

If we are to credit the allegations of Mrs. McNamee, made in her divorce proceeding, it might be the course of wisdom for Graham, the next time he takes a recess for refreshment, to pull down the blinds.

From Columbus comes word that former Congressman Brooks Fletcher has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for congress in this, the Eighth district. It will be fine to have Brooks with us again!

He is well-named the "Gloomy Dean,' but even gloomy though he be, he hits the bull's-eye at times, as when he says: "We are, perhaps, disposed to sing the praises of liberty just now when we have realized—if we have realized—that the main result of the Great war has been to make the world very unsafe for liberty."

"To be really interesting in this life," Nancy Carroll of the movies is credited with saying, "one has to be either very good or very bad." The sad phase of the thing is that the bulk of the newspaper and magazine exploitation goes to the latter class.

James Hamilton Lewis' name has been formally entered in Illinois as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Come to think of it, Democracy might go farther and do a lot worse than select as its standard-bearer the "mirror of fashion" whose aurora borealis whiskers and pink "weskits" in years past brought to him worldwide fame.

The Panama canal tolls of 1931 were the lowest since 1925, having dropped from the 1929 peak of $27,592,705 to $22,630,820. Considering the scores of thousands of tons of shipping tied up last year, the showing isn't so bad as might have been anticipated.

Geneva sees great peril in the offing without the help of the United States, holding that the eastern conflict presents grave danger to us, to Great Britain and the League of Nations unless the League council exerts pressure with the backing of the navies of Britain and America. Does anybody know the whereabouts of the fellows who used to hold that this country would be isolated unless it joined the League?

Announcement is made that the name of Alfred E. Smith will go on the North Dakota primary ballot. It begins to look as though the coming big Democratic gathering in Chicago will witness a free-for-all fight after all, especially so in the light of the fact that the New York delegation is to go to the convention unpledged to either former Governor Smith or Governor Roosevelt.

The Student's Part.

Students are pretty much the same the world over—ready to talk, quick to act and quicker to change their minds.

A few months ago more than a quarter of a million Chinese students were demanding a stronger national attitude toward Japan. They engaged in a vast deal of inflammatory oratory and a corresponding amount of reckless action, holding up trains, attacking the government and organizing a "Dare To Die" corps for the glory of their country.

The Chinese student movement, strangely enough, has dissolved in the heat of actual warfare, according to the war correspondents. Leadership has faded away; one section of the "Dare To Die" corps which actually penetrated Manchuria during the disturbances there found the climate too cold and disbanded; reality, it seems, has tempered the juvenile enthusiasm of the student patriots.

Japanese students, in the meantime, have been given an opportunity to watch their nation undertake its very ambitious war. Most of them, it is safe to presume, have kept their peace, either from choice or necessity. A minority, however, fails to agree with an "imperialistic" war. Twenty-five Imperial university undergraduates are cooling their heels in confinement for their part in a protest meeting.

In Spain and in the South American and Central American republics student action is an indispensable part of any social movement against the government, at least it seems to be, from the recognition given student opinion when such movements occur. Americans frequently note the contrast to student influence in this country.

The absence of students from politics is a negligible loss. By waiting until they know what they want and are mature enough not to change their minds with their shoes, they save a vast deal of the cluttered opinion and hasty action that keep the police power and student movement of certain other governments en-

First Ballot Talk.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, the runaway candidate of a few months ago, has been bridled and saddled. Enthusiastic Democrats who whooped things up for him with reckless talk of nomination on the first ballot are changing their tune.

A total of 770 votes will be necessary to nominate the candidate. Governor Roosevelt, who claimed at one time to have 678 votes sewed up and put away, is forced to concede now that they have dwindled to 370 and further deterioration is likely.

Tammany Hall, which usually controls most of New York City's delegate votes, is split three ways, for instance. Alfred E. Smith has friends, James J. Walker, currently proposed as a vice presidential candidate in case Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Smith kill each other off, has friends, and all three have enemies.

Mr. Walker and Mr. Roosevelt aren't on speaking terms, Mr. Walker and Mr. Smith aren't enthusiastic friends, and Mr. Smith and Mr. Roosevelt aren't pulling in double harness any more. Add to the Tammany trouble the increasing total of uninstructed delegates, the favorite son movement and the increasing boomlet for Speaker John Garner and the situation becomes one of delightful confusion nicely calculated to bring gladness to Republican hearts and hope to the hearts of Ohio's Newton D. Baker supporters.

There is considerable interest in the possibility that Mayor Jimmie may get his opportunity in national political drama as a compromise Tammany candidate for the vice presidency. It is reported that personally he favors nomination of a westerner for the presidency with himself as the East's representative. What an adornment he would be to the battered stump! Or would Democrats out in the hinterlands feel a little abashed in the glorious presence of the "smooth city feller?"

The mayor of West Frankfort, Illinois, has been made defendant in a damage suit for $500 instituted by a citizen of that place, who charges that he contributed $175 to the mayor's campaign fund on a promise that he would be named city scavenger and that another man was given the job. It is to be assumed that the difference of $325 represents the humiliation and distress the citizen suffered in being deprived of the distinction the position carried.

It Happens Occasionally.

Politicians who take themselves too seriously can afford to give attention to a thing that comes about frequently when voters get fed up on tried and true political fare. Seattle offers one current example.

A jeweler by the name of Victor Aloysius Meyers is making a whirlwind campaign against nine regular candidates in that city. He is a master of burlesque ballyhoo from away back, and admits that the thing started as a joke. Nevertheless, he has a chance of being elected.

In his platform are such gaudy planks as cracked ice on "owl" cars, more basses and fewer tenors in the police department, and heavier and slikier silk underwear. He promises to put his wife in charge of city finances, if elected, and boasts that within two weeks' time Edinburgh, Scotland, will have a commission in Seattle to study her plan. He admits he never will say "yes" or "no" to anything if voters place their faith in him, but will play safe and say "maybe." He plans to build a springboard for suicides on Seattle's new bridge, and thinks a small saloon might pay its way in the city. To keep up political appearances he wears a high silk hat, and is a back-slapper par excellence.

Candidate Meyers at present is leader of a jazz orchestra and needs publicity. If he gets the job he seeks, he will be able to go out of the dance business and walk carefully down the middle of the road until Seattle calls his bluff. It could happen; it has happened. American voters are great people, but they do dearly love a circus. And most politicians are such hopelessly dreary, serious fellows anyway.

From Washington comes word of the invention by a scientist there of a "brass brain" to find a long-time weather forecast basis. It is to be hoped that it will prove an improvement over the ivory variety which seemingly has been groping in the dark.

President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia university, has called on the Republican opponents of the prohibition law to serve notice that they will not support a candidate for any office who does not favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and the Hon. John J. Raskob has indicated that Democracy should take a stand for wetness. Wouldn't it be odd were the two old parties forced squarely to face an issue which they have been so carefully dodging for years?

A Fine Gathering.

Marion heartily welcomes the delegates to the Ohio Young Men's conference of the state Young Men's Christian association, and the hope of our citizens is that the three-day program will prove alike pleasant and profitable in the highest degree to all taking advantage of the various sessions either as participants or auditors.

This city is always glad to entertain visiting delegations, and is especially glad to have within its limits as guests such upstanding young men as are gathered here at present. And well it may be, for gatherings which are made up of men of middle life or past naturally have a tendency to look backward, while those of the youth of the land have a forward look. Through those in attendance at gatherings of youth, we get a new slant on life, new ideas and aspirations. It is good to us of major years to get the pictures reflected by youthful eyes; it gets us out of many ruts into which we of older years in our self-complacency may have fallen.

Then there is another thing to be said of gatherings of youth. If a city makes a good impression on its delegates, that impression covers a greater span of years than that made on an assemblage of those who have reached life's meridian for the latter are passing while

"WON'T YOU—SIT DOWN?

Editorial Opinion.

TWO PICTURES.

It was a dark picture of his state, which William Lemke, of Fargo, displayed in Washington a few days ago. He was pleading before a Senate subcommittee for the Frazier bill, which aims at raising billions of dollars by a greenback issue for low rate loans on farm lands. Mr. Lemke gave the impression that North Dakota is on the brink of bankruptcy, and that a large percentage of its residents are unable to pay their present high taxes.

Such advertising is not welcome to the people of North Dakota, no matter what the purpose may be of broadcasting such gloomy stories. Neither is it a true picture.

Set off against the Lemke jeremiads some recent facts about North Dakota. The state land commissioner reports that interest collections on school and municipal bonds owned by the state broke all records in 1931, and that on January 1 they represented more than ninety-eight per cent of the amounts due. Not only that, but the various local units of government called nearly three-quarters of a million in bonds before their due date, to employ idle money and save interest charges. It is announced also that January collections of motor vehicle license fees set an all-time record for that department.

The state that can make such a showing is surely a long way from insolvency. It does no good, of course, to cover up disagreeable facts. But there are worse things than covering up disagreeable facts. Exaggerated stories of "hard times," ignoring of solid facts that have an optimistic flavor, are deplorable tactics. They do one's state and community nothing but harm. Minneapolis Journal.

GERMANY AND THE ARMS PROBLEM.

Chancellor Bruening appears to have surprised and pleased the Geneva conference by the restraint and moderation of his speech outlining Germany's position with reference to the problem of armament reduction. Observers were impressed by the fact that he completely ignored Hitlerism and other reactionary movements in Germany and made no threats.

There is strength in reserve. Bruening was not melodramatic, but he was explicit. He declared that, in the matter of armaments, Germany would demand equality with other European powers, France, for example. The reich, he said, would not rearm itself if the conference reached satisfactory agreements as to reduction and limitation of armaments. He made it clear, however, that if the conference failed Germany would feel free to repudiate one-sided and unfair restrictions originally imposed—and accepted—on the understanding that the rest of the world would effect drastic reductions in armaments and in defense expenditures.

The reasonableness of Bruening's position is too apparent to provoke serious criticism even in France.—Chicago News.

A CRUEL TAX.

Among the revenue-raising proposals now before the house ways and means committee is one that should be rejected with all possible speed. That is the plan for taxing customers of gas and electric utilities.

All the arguments that make a sales tax on bread or other necessities iniquitous apply also to a utilities tax. Gas for cooking is an absolute necessity of life in many parts of this country. To the families near the margin of want, every cent they must spend to cook food is a problem. Light is no less essential. To burden the small electric bill with a federal tax levy would be cruel and unjust.

The utility tax is not a proposal for collecting revenues from a business that has withstood the depression better than most of its fellows. It is a tax on families already paying well for services they can not do without. It is a discriminatory tax, not adjusted to the principle of ability to pay, but designed to fall most heavily on the urban poor, who can not cut wood to warm themselves or make candles for light.

The revenue problem is a difficult one, but certainly a more satisfactory solution than this can be found.—Columbus Citizen.

Dinner Stories.

"Do you think a practical politician can afford to place patriotic duty above personal interests?"

"He can't afford to do otherwise," replied Senator Sorghum. "A practical politician is one who succeeds in getting elected; and the voters out my way haven't any use for a man who doesn't love his country."

Mother: "Now, do you know where bad little girls go to?"

Molly—"Oh, yes—they go almost everywhere."

"Good morning," said the caller, "I should like to pay my income tax."

"Well, you're in luck!"

"Surely not the first to pay?"

Burns and Scalds.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Prevention is better than cure, is a saying that can be applied to any ailment. It applies particularly to burns. Severe burns are often difficult to cure and in most instances could have been prevented.

Burns may produce permanent deformities, which may become lifelong handicaps. We can not say enough about their dangers.

Careless handling of hot liquids, such as boiling water, hot soup, tea or coffee, is the most frequent cause of burns. The scalding is sometimes severe and serious. This accident is particularly dangerous when it involves children and elderly individuals.

Scalding causes marked reddening of the skin. The pain is intense. If the skin and underlying structures are damaged, scars form.

In a mild burn there is simple reddening of the skin and blisters may form. Scars do not occur in this type of burn.

Treatment of a bad burn should be left to the physician. His care lessens the discomfort and pain, shortens the duration of the healing process and prevents possible complications. Yet every one should be familiar with the treatment of a burn. Often it is difficult to secure a physician, or he may be delayed in arriving.

For the simple burn, keep the air away from the inflamed area. To this end apply a paste of moistened starch, flour or baking powder. Where there is marked reddening of the skin, olive oil, castor oil, vaseline or any soothing ointment may be applied.

In the more severe burns, where the pain in a warm tub to which a pound of baking in a war mtub to which a pound of baking soda has been added. Cold water should never be used.

While waiting for the doctor warm drinks, such as tea or milk, should be given to promote warmth. The body should be wrapped in warm blankets and hot water bottles applied to the feet.

Much of our present knowledge concerning the treatment of burns came from the experiences in the World war. During that conflict picric acid was used for treating bad burns. Recently tannic acid solution has been used with great success. Sometimes it is sprayed on the painful spots.

Severe burns, as I have said and desire to repeat, require the utmost care and expert attention, as soon as possible. After the acute symptoms disappear further attention may be demanded. After the scar has formed, skin grafting and plastic surgery are often necessary to prevent serious handicaps.

The many permanent disabilities resulting from burns should serve as a warning against carelessness which might result in permanent damage. It is all too common to read about the accidents that can be prevented.

Ten Comets Due This Year.

BY ALICE LANGELIER

Paris, Feb. 13—I.N.S.—Ten comets are due to visit the earth this year, according to the best French astronomers. One of them has not been seen since its first appearance in 1918. Another, the Temple's comet, which is associated with the November meteors, has only once been observed since the first record of its appearance 500 years ago.

The appearance this year may solve a riddle which has been baffling the sky-observers for more than sixty years. It is believed by one French astronomer that this comet was probably deflected into its present course in A.D. 126 when it was supposed to have entered the solar system from outer space and to have been caught by the planet, Uranus.

This is what the most popular Parisian prophets are predicting for 1932.

No war, declares Marie-Louise Laliemand. French seeress. But there will be many airplane accidents and many railway smashups. Tardieu will again become minister of the interior. She predicts better business everywhere. The cost of living will go down, and life become easier for everybody. Hitler will not take power, and it will be a hot summer, says she.

Madame Fontaine, who specializes in theatrical affairs and who predicted the death of actress Jenny Golder and Regine Flory, is also optimistic and foresees a cheerful springtime. Everything will come all right and in short order, she believes. There will be one big fire in Paris, near the Opera. This is about all Paris ever does see in twelve months, but this is going to cause many victims.

A popular music-hall artist will die after an accident and one great statesman, she says.

Madame Fraya, counted perhaps Paris most noted seeress since the death of Madame Delbos who predicted the World war, announced the depression last year and foresees the continuation of the crisis through 1932.

French genius, however, will provide a means of defense for the critical period, she predicts. In addition, France will hold her paramount place superior to all European countries.

England will decline and lose her colonies, she thinks. Central Europe and the Orient will have their usual war skirmishes.

The stock exchange will be shaky, she holds. But there will be a decided tendency to return to wisdom, economy, reason and prudence, always famous as French virtues.

In the meantime, it begins to look as though the Paris taxi chauffeurs would have a bad year in 1932. According to the records at the Prefecture there are no fewer than 30,000 cab-drivers but only 30,000 actually driving. The number of taxis on the Paris streets is roughly 20,000, the extra 10,000 chauffeurs being night drivers.

Gone is the day when a burly chauffeur calmly pushed down his little flag and refused to take on a fare if he happened to be hurrying home to lunch or going in an opposite direction. He invites one to ride in any direction these days, and for no matter how short a distance.

Severer tests for future candidates will soon be made and foreign drivers will find it more and more difficult to obtain a license.

Senator Willis' First Legislature.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

The seventy-fourth general assembly contained in the house side rather more than the usual number of outstanding figures, who like Senator Willis rose later to higher places. W. S. McKinnin, who represented Ashtabula county, was made speaker of the next house, and later was elected treasurer of state. C. L. Brumbaugh, who then represented Darke county, removed to Franklin, and was repeatedly elected to congress from that district. A. G. Reynolds, who represented Lake county then, was elected to the common pleas bench, after serving as speaker of the house. Horace Ankeney, representative of Greene county, was later named state food commissioner. Nicholas Longworth was later speaker of the national house. Charles L. Swaim, of Cincinnati, who has figured in Democratic politics, was also a member. Ralph D. Cole represented Hancock county and Clyde R. Painter was there from Bowling Green. He was the first federal appointee from Ohio under the Harding administration.

Among other well-known members of that house were: Aaron E. Price, of Athens; Bert Barthalow, of Butler county; Stacey B. Rankin, of Clark county; Edward Hagenbuch, of Logan; Ross A. Holaday, of Lawrence; Evan H. Davis, of Cleveland, father of former Governor Harry L. Davis; A. G. Comings, of Lorain; Charles P. Griffin, of Lucas, and several others.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE

New York, Feb. 13—Nobody could have so much trouble buying a hat as I. First: My head is the shape of an egg, a Zip-the-Whatist effect. Second: The hats fitting the back of my head leaves enough space on either side out front to tuck in a kitten. Third: I can't take it!

Every time I go into a store to try on hats one clerk after another purrs a "Pardon me" and rushes to the rear to unloose a setting of whoops. I've had a whole store rolling on the floor at the same time. And the manager of one place is just leaving the hospital Tuesday.

Always a clerk approaches me as though I might be only another customer. He doesn't know what he's in for. "Something in an every-day hat," I explain. Where I came from we go in for everyday and Sunday things. I've never gotten over it.

He brings out that mechanical hoodoo to slip over my head which clicks off in perforated pin points the miniature shape of my dome. Invariably, he looks at the result casually and gives a frightened start. Then he suggests another impression as though something had slipped.

"It's all right," I comfort him. "It always comes out like that." And I try to make out I don't feel silly although I'm conscious that what is now a sedate hat shop will soon become a three ring circus. Strange faces are peering around corners. Strike up the band.

I've never figured out what there is about me that makes a clerk try to sell me a hat with a little yodel feather sprouting from the side. It may be the droop of my ears. But without fail it's his first offering. No use trying to stop him.

Yesterday, as usual, he brought the feathered chapeau and adjusted it. Another customer passing glanced at me and called. "Pretty good. I got a friend in Jersey who can do those Ed Wynn imitations, too." That gives you an idea, or are you listening?

The next hat suggested a peanut shell flared around the edges. Toto, the clown, wore the original over one ear, although he had a chin strap. You know, pull it up in the air and let it snap back. I waved it away and he brought a derby. Well sir, I'm more fun in a derby. The minute I put one on people look for the ventriloquist. They expect him to sit me on his knee and inquire, "Well, how are you today, Felix?"

But I'm no shakes as a derby boy. Kin Hubbard rest his soul—spoiled them for me observing: "Tilford Motts new derby is just like a coffin." So they brought a wide-brimmed sombrero. I fancied it. With a dance pony, you'd thought of Gary Cooper riding hell-for-leather against a background of purple sage. I asked my wife's opinion. "Tom Mix gave you one and there's Amon Carter," she replied. "I like it," I riposted. And by the way how are you getting on in your reducing these days?" "Well, why don't you take it?" she inquired in a voice that really said "I dare you to, you bum."

By this time all the clerks left whatever they were doing and surrounded us, splitting into factions—the "McIntyre crowd" and the "Mrs. McIntyre crowd." I was glad one fellow with creeper stuff that grows on graves and Chief Justice Hughes's face was on her side. I decided to be calm. There must be no headlines. "Columnist Crushed in Hat Shop Riot-ing." Tact was the thing. Win by diplomacy. So I whispered to a clerk and adjusted the cow-puncher hat again. "You are not by chance Clive Brook?" beamed the clerk, carrying out orders beautifully. I glanced hopefully at my wife. She thinks Brook is quite a hattist. He was N. G.

Anyway, I continued to try on hats, but always sneaked back to the big son-of-a-gun. In final effort, I put it on again at a rakish angle and stepping before her whined like an old organ with the quiver stop out: "I'd certainly like this one. It's a hat for every occasion." She replied: "Outside of a hog calling contest—what occasion?"

So I came away without a new bonnet. I may give up hats altogether. After all, it's hard to tell where my neck leaves off and head starts in. There's a legend in Gallipolis that Grandma once used a fancy ointment to remove a wart on my scalp and it removed the head.—Copyright, 1932, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Hard Times.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, Feb. 13 — Despite efforts at times to appear as a group of "hard boiled eggs," as Senator Copeland, of New York once described them, members of the senate at heart seem a rather sentimental sort.

Most of them love the beautiful gesture—rarely miss an opportunity to make one or be present to enjoy it.

There was the time, for example, when Jim Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader was forced to Florida by shattered nerves—when the tariff battle was at its height in the last congress.

All business was halted to praise him and wish him a speedy return to health and the senate.

When Joseph Robinson, of Arkansas, and David Reed, of Pennsylvania, returned from the London naval arms conference last year, the senate was so proud of them that a special ceremony was held.

So it was when Vice President Curtis' seventy-second birthday rolled around the other day.

The senate was up to its neck in the job to get through Hoover's relief measures, but the members had to find time to express the old "many happy returns of the day" to "Charlie."

"Doc" Copeland started it off, clucking Brookhart, of Iowa, who was about to begin a long speech. Assuming his best professional air, he looked over Curtis carefully from a distance and said:

"I don't know how many birthdays he has had, but as a physician looking at him from this viewpoint, I should say he has had about forty-five."

"You're wrong," Wesley Jones, of Washington, broke in, "the Vice President doesn't appear to me to be a day over thirty-five."

At least three senators got up to wish him a happy birthday and many more of them.

Curtis sat through it all, blushing and smiling. When they were through, he arose and said simply:

"The Vice President greatly appreciates your kind words."

Curtis is nearing the end of his first term as presiding officer of the senate if anything more popular with senators, then ever before. He has been the strictest president they have had in years, but a well-liked one.

There has been criticism that he has grown "high hat" since becoming Vice President. That doesn't seem to hold with the men in the senate with whom he has served so long.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

"Call An Ambulance"

An arm stole around Papa Ross' shoulder. A vivid, livening arm, whose sharp with fear called Hope.

"What's happened?"

Goody covered his face slowly and turned down at Goody. Gradually Hope's pointed features quieted.

"You'd better call an ambulance," she said toneless. "I've hurt him. I've killed. I didn't have a gun."

"Oh Dad!"

Papa Ross stiffened as the door behind the closed door of the billiard room reached their ears. Instinctively they moved toward the knob was grasped and Hickey spoke a short, hardened voice.

The door swung open, and Hickey with a purple to the collar around Mr. Dobson, obedient, but still was growling at their feet. Papa Hickey glance at them. Hickey with a mountainous stride and marched to a ladder-back chair where slumped a bride-groom less than two rounds of fight. Carefully Hickey picked up his son. And marched, silent and with supreme dignity, past the two in the corridor.

"Is he badly hurt?" called Papa Ross sharply.

At the foot of the staircase Hickey turned.

"Shall I—shall we call an ambulance?" put in Goody huskily.

Hickey's arms sagged from the sheer weight of his muscular burden. One fleeting glimpse of the boy's bleeding face, eyes closed in grateful unconsciousness, struck the vision of the two who stood half cowering in the light of the billiard room.

"I will take care of my son," said Hickey with labored breath. "You take care of your daughter."

Tightly he gathered his burden, and spoke to the dog at his heels.

Goody and Papa Ross watched the procession up the broad staircase. Heard the voices in the upper hall. Heard the slam of the front door. Heard the sound of Hickey's car. And then—heard no more.

The following day, Mr. Ross did not go to his office. He himself unlocked Hope's door in the morning, and once more marshalled the cook in and out with a breakfast tray of food. The room was empty save for the hungry little kitten cuddled in the taffeta bedspread that had been tossed on the floor. From behind Hope's bathroom door came sounds of a running shower, gasps and gurgles of grateful shock in the bride's pliant treble.

When Hope, wrapped in a hand-crocheted bathrobe of orange, green, and lavendar silken threads, swung open her bathroom door and gazed about, her bright blue eyes lighted on the breakfast tray set in the sunshine so that the painted cherries and peaches and grapes stood out on the gay yellow china like living fruit. Her nose crinkled, and her small bare foot tapped thoughtfully. A particularly rasping meow from Sassy made up her mind.

Kitten in her lap, Hope sat down and fed it cream and bits of parsley from her omelette. Disdainfully she tasted her orange juice, and wondered why a single taste should drain the glass. Merely for curiosity's sake she lifted the cover from one dish and closed her eyes faintly at the sight of hot bran muffins, and two pats of fresh sweet butter. The tang of coffee teased her . . .

She and Sassy scraped the tray clean between them, and once more Hope lifted tray and dishes and flung them out her window into the rocky brook below, on the theory that nobody could really tell whether or not she had eaten!

Slowly and thoughtfully she dressed. Quite carefully she explained the dire necessity of peculiar proceedings to Sassy, begging the cat not to worry and to please put up with a few hardships just for an hour or so.

Then with infinite patience, she knotted together her sheets, and vigorously pushing her bed over to the window, fastened one end of her rope to the bedfoot. The long end she tossed out the window.

Next Sassy was tenderly packed in a tiny overnight bag, padded with boudoir pillows to protect his pedigreed bones.

Out the window, flung as far as possible, so that it might miss the brook, went her own full-sized valise. Next, with prayers and mumbled pleas, the overnight bag containing Sassy.

Then with urgent speed, Hope climbed up on her bed and began to edge over to the window, grasping the sheet mightily, and testing its strength.

No doubt the servants had reported the various accumulations of cast outs from her window. At any rate, before Hope had one foot out on her perilous journey sheetwards, her bedroom door was suddenly unlocked and Papa Ross entered.

"Hope! Come in out of there, at once!"

Pale, but sharp-eyed, Hope stared at him.

"Not unless you're going to act human!" she called back sharply.

"Come in here at once, I say."

"I'm going to Dickey!"

"There's no Dickey to go to! Come in here."

Hope jumped to the floor, gasping.

"What do you mean—there's no Dickey?"

"Come down here, and I'll tell you. I want to talk to you, Hope." She glanced fretfully toward the window.

"But my kitty—it will die——"

"The cook has your cat. Come here, I say, child. I have news for you. Bad news, I suppose, but I expect you to be thoroughbred enough——"

"Has anything happened to Dickey?"

Only the sternest sense of duty, only the deepest faith in his sense of right, prevented Papa Ross from melting at that wail.

"No. Nothing has happened," he said slowly. "Except that he's come to his senses, I suppose."

"What do you mean?"

"I don't know anything about him," Papa Ross shrugged, and wondered why he could not meet the child's eyes. "He hasn't been near me since he brought you home yesterday, and lost his temper to such an extent that he threw me against the door and very nearly broke my arm."

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Lee Chow Visits the Chinese Who Has Been Convalescing at the Farmhouse and Preparations Are Made to Have Him Identify the Two Desperate Prisoners.

HARRY UNDERWOOD stood in the door when Lillian opened it, and his eyes ran over me quickly, appraising my changed costume.

"All set?" he asked us, and Lillian nodded.

"Ready for anything," she said.

"Then come along. We need you, Lady Fair."

Wondering, I followed him with Lillian into the kitchen, giving a startled gasp just inside the doorway, at the sight of the two bound Chinese, who had been covered from neck to feet in sheets, and had their heads bound in towels.

"Taking no chances on contagion," Harry Underwood said in a low voice, and then my father's hands were on my shoulders, and his voice was demanding:

"Tell me, darling, you are all right, that fiend did not hurt you?"

"Not a bit," I fibbed, for my bruised elbow still reminded me of the terrifying onslaught of one of those bound figures.

"Then listen to Hugh. We need you, dearest."

But Hugh spoke first to Dicky, who came into the room just after me.

Something to Do

"What does Mrs. Bickett say?"

"That's it's all right to bring Madge in now, and then afterward."

"Then we'll get to work at once," Hugh Grantland decided. "Mrs. Bickett tells me"—he turned to me deferentially—"that you are the only person to whom the wounded Chinese will pay any attention, and that he believes everything you say."

I hoped that my cheeks were not as flaming as they felt, and I stole an apprehensive glance at Dicky.

Perhaps Hugh had not been told why the old Chinese would receive information from no one save me, but I knew that the words of the old chap, "pitty lady belong Lee Chow's boss man," were fresh in my husband's memory.

His face was non-committal, however, and I mustered up courage to look at Hugh.

"Is there something you wish me to do?" I asked, ignoring his comment, and because of Dicky making my voice a bit stilted—not purposely—simply because otherwise I could not manage speech at all, so vivid and embarrassing was my memory of the words that the wounded Chinese had spoken.

"If you will be so kind, yes," he returned with equal formality.

"Please go to the sick room and tell him Lee Chow is here. Then Lee Chow will talk to him.

"I am to go now?"

"If you please."

Lee Chow came to my side and together we left the kitchen and went down the hall to the library, where lay the wounded Chinese. Lee Chow stepped back as we came to the door.

"I will wait here until you call me," he said, and I tapped softly upon the door. Katherine opened it and beckoned me inside.

"It's all right," she said. "I've told him you were coming."

Ready for the Identification

I crossed to the bed and looked down upon the still wan face of the wounded Chinese. His black eyes stared up at me unwinkingly.

"Pitty lady have news," he said surprisingly.

"Yes." I went straight to the point. "Lee Chow is here."

Again that unwinking, silent stare. Finally he spoke in his usual high-pitched singing voice:

"He want see me?"

"Yes. He is waiting just outside the door."

Across his immobile face flitted an expression of something like horror that his master should be waiting anywhere upon his convenience. I hastened to put a query.

"Can you see him now? Shall I bring him in?"

"Yes, quick," he answered, and I turned away. Katherine, who had heard the colloquy, was already at the door, and the next moment Lee Chow, with infinite compassion in his eyes, was bending over the bed.

I quickly went to Katherine at the other end of the room, and we waited while Lee Chow's quick questions and the man's slower replies went on. Finally Lee Chow straightened himself from his stooping posture and came over to us.

"I am very anxious," he said to Katherine, in the admirable English speech that is his, "to have those men in the kitchen brought in here immediately. I have prepared him as well as I could for their appearance—but—will you look at him, please, and tell me if you consider him able to go through the ordeal?"

"He will be all right," she said, "but do not have them stay any longer than is absolutely necessary."

"I promise you that!" Lee Chow said gravely, as he went out of the room.

GALION DOWNED BY BUCYRUS AS REDMEN FLASH EARLIER FORM

Seele Scores 15 Points To Regain Second Post in Scoring Race.

Once again showing the form which two weeks ago carried them to a surprise victory over Ashland, the Bucyrus Redmen last night took the measure of their most heated rival, Galion. The Orangemen fell before the attack of the Bucktown boys by the decisive score of 29-16. The defeat gives Galion the doubtful honor of being crowned "cellar champions" for at least a week as the Orangemen have won but one of seven starts against two out of seven for Bucyrus.

Bucyrus wasted no time last night in going about the task of doling out a defeat to its rival neighbor. The Redmen climbed into a lead in the first quarter and held it throughout the entire battle and after the first period the Orangemen were never close enough to seriously threaten the Bucyrus supremacy.

The Redmen held Galion scoreless in the second period of the game while turning in five points themselves as the quarter's quota of the total score.

Seele, Bucyrus' candidate for all-league center turned in another brilliant performance at the pivot post against Galion, dropping in five baskets and five charity throws for a total of 15 points to again gain second place in the individual scoring race of the league. Goldsmith, usual high scorer for Galion, was held to a single basket by the tight Bucyrus defense.

The Galion reserve team made it an even break for the Orangemen by recording a 16-8 victory over Bucyrus. The victory keeps the Galion seconds in third place in the reserve campaign.

MANSFIELD TYGERS TAKE CLOSE VICTORY

Whippets Stage Furious Second Half Rally, but Effort Falls Short.

Mansfield's rampaging Tygers tightened their apparent strangle hold on first place in the North Central Ohio league basketball race last night by recording another of those one-point decisions. Last week the Men of Murphy grabbed a single point win from Galion in an overtime struggle. Last night the same combination walked off the floor with an 18-17 victory over "Chick" Young's Whippets, staving off a furious last minute rally of the Whippets to gain the decision.

Shelby was the victim of a first class drubbing in the opening two periods of the game with Mansfield. The Tyger clawed their way into a commanding lead in the opening half. With Brandon leading the attack on the Shelby basket, the score at the intermission was 14-5 for the Tygers.

Coming back with a wild scoring rush in the third period, Shelby battled Mansfield off its feet and rang up a total of 10 points to four for the Tygers to slash the Mansfield margin to 18-15 as the third period ended.

Mansfield stiffened in the final period and held the Whippets to two points, just one short of a tie score. Mansfield failed to score a single point in the final frame and was outplayed most of the time by Shelby but the Whippets once again discovered to their dismay that a good team cannot be spotted a flock of points and then overhauled late in the contest.

The Mansfield reserves also took a one-point game from Shelby, winning by a 19-18 score, to stay in second place a single game behind the Harding second stringers.

Sports Editor, The Star

MARION HARDING'S hopes of capturing the North Central Ohio league basketball championship were blasted into minute particles last night as the Presidents were soundly thumped by a fast-moving court combination performing under the orange and black banners of Ashland High school. The final score of the conflict was 32-17 and that score just about indicates the difference between the two teams last night.

The defeat jolted the Presidents out of a tie for second position in the N. C. O. into third place, while Ashland hopped into undisputed possession of the runner-up post to Mansfield. The Mansfield five continued in the league lead by turning back Shelby by a one point margin.

There is probably no single reason for the decisive beating handed by the Ashland boys. Jack Ling was missing from the lineup due to a cracked ankle but it is doubtful if even his presence would have been able to turn the tide towards the Marion team. Ashland played bang-up ball and Harding was decidedly "off," both in floor work and in shooting At no time of the battle was there a question as to who would win. Ashland took the lead three seconds after the whistle sounded to start the conflict and Harding threatened to press the issue only at widely scattered intervals.

Hero Plays Well

If there was any conforting features of the beating it was the play of Billie Hero, diminutive Harding forward. From a Harding standpoint Hero was about the only bright spot in an otherwise drab exhibition. His play on both offense and defense was the best turned in by any Harding player.

Nick Dolby started the big parade for Ashland as he grabbed the tip-off from Tommy Thomas. Ashland center, and dribbled half the length of the floor to sink a two pointer almost before the echoes of the starting whistle had died away. Another bucket followed in less time than it takes to write about it and then Harding called time out to see what could be done about stopping what already was threatening to develop into a complete rout.

Billie Hero solved the problem momentarily by dribbling the length of the floor before being fouled and given two free tosses He made them both and put Harding into the running for the time being but the effort was quickly nullified as Ashland went on another spree that carried the count to 10-5 by the time the period had ended. Freddie Vestal tossed in a bucket from near mid-court for Harding's only two pointer in the first period—and incidentally in the first half.

Ashland Off Again

After about two minutes of the second period was completed it was obvious that Harding was in for a sound lacing. Ashland tossed in baskets in rapid fire order, running the count to 20-5 by the time the half way point was reached. Harding failed to collect a point in the second period.

Harding threatened to get back in the game early in the third period by sinking a pair of field goals before Ashland counted a point but the rally was short lived as the Hilltoppers took time out and checked the scoring splurge of the Red and Black.

Harding made a determined effort to hold the score down and get back in the running but each time as the former power house drive appeared on the verge of staging a comeback, the attack bogged down and Harding slipped farther in arrears. Harding battled hard but simply couldn't match the strength displayed by the Hilltoppers.

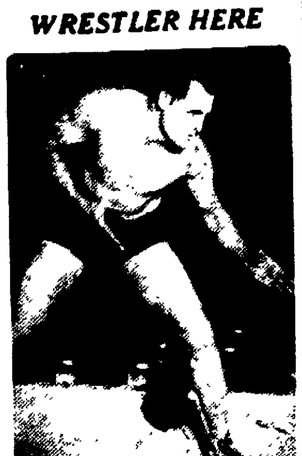
HARDING PLAYS CRESTLINE TODAY

Jolted from a tie for second place in the N. C. O. league last night by Ashland, the Harding Presidents will attempt to chalk up a victory tonight at the expense of a non-league foe. The Bohyer combine will invade the confines of the Crestline gymnasium for a battle with the Crestline High school.

Crestline, while a smaller school than Harding, supports a reputedly strong team and is expected to give the Red and Black five considerable opposition. The game is called for 8 p. m. The Harding Reserves are not billed to play.

WRESTLER HERE



Above is pictured Paddy Mack, the wrestling favorite of Marion who will appear here Monday night in the main go of the regular weekly wrestling card. Mack will be opposed by Fred Moran, the Boston Irishman, in a two-fall to win match with a two-hour time limit. Mack has been packing 'em in at the Shovel arena in his former appearances here, fans being well pleased with his scientific style of wrestling.

BLISS FIVE HUMBLED BY SHOVEL Y-INDUS QUINT IN FAST FRAY

Gillis, Keller Lead Marion to Victory Over Classy Columbus Team.

The Shovel Y-Indus basketball team scaled the heights last night to score its sixteenth victory of the season over the brilliant hardwood combination representing Bliss Business college of Columbus. The crack amateur quintet of Marion beat the future bookkeepers 33-2 on the Steam Shovel court in one of the best played games seen on a local court this season.

The Bliss college five is the same team which earlier this season turned in victories over Ohio university of the Buckeye athletic association and several other class teams of both Ohio conference and independent circles.

The Shovel quintet spotted the Bliss five a two-point lead in the first period and then proceeded to turn the Bliss advantage into a deficit in the second period as V. Gillis and Bill Keller led an assault on the basket. Keller departed from his usual role of a low scor

Harding Seconds Spurt in Third Period To Win by 15-11 Score.

The perfect record of the Harding High school reserve basketball team tottered perilously close to the edge of the precipice of defeat last night for two periods before a sudden point scoring drive was engineered that sent Ashland skidding downward to 15-11 defeat.

Ashland's seconds, one of the weakest in the North Central Ohio circuit, played the Marion team on even terms for the first two periods, Harding holding only a 6-5 advantage at the half-way point of the game. The scoring power which in previous games had made the Marion team the outstanding reserve organization in the league was missing in those first two periods and there were grave fears that it would not return in time to jerk the issue out of the fire.

However, as the second half got under way, Guthrie flipped in a pair of well directed shots that put Harding into a comfortable lead that was never relinquished.

Ashland was roundly trounded in the final two frames although a last minute rally brought them to within four points of a deadlocked count.

CALEDONIA WINS TO CINCH EAST HALF TITLE; CLARIDON SURPRISES WITH VICTORY OVER WALDO

Morral Boys Given First Beating of Season by LaRue Five.

BY KARL R. McELROY

Caledonia is "in."

A magnificent drive down the home stretch gave the Caledonia High school basketeers the Eastern division championship in the Marion County league last night when Kirkpatrick fell before their driving attack, 22-17.

It was a game that will go down in county basketball history as a thriller and the hundreds of fans that jammed the Kirkpatrick gym will remember it as the season's outstanding battle.

Kirkpatrick showed superior strength in the first half of the game but the championship Caledonia machine began clicking in the final periods to overcome a five-point lead. Kirkpatrick started off in front and at the end of the first period held a 4-to-2 lead. At the half it had stepped out in front 11-6. Then the battle started.

Caledonia began locating the loop and went into the lead in the third period 14-13. The final period found one team ahead and then the other. It was not until the closing minutes of the period that Caledonia gained a five-point advantage.

E. Haas was the big factor in Caledonia victory. Although he failed to get started in the first half, he came back in the final two quarters to lead both teams in scoring. He counted 15 points. Hill's eight points were high for Kirkpatrick.

M. Lemke scored more than enough points to give the kirkpatrick girls a decisive win over Caledonia, 20 to 10. Kirkpatrick led throughout the game and were never in serious danger. M. Lemke scored 12 points.

PROSPECT TAKES TWO

Agosta Battles Hard But Loses Both Ends of Bill.

Agosta High school boys and girls finished their first season of competition in the Marion county league last night by absorbing a pair of defeats but despite the beatings, the Agosta teams turned in their best performances of the season. Prospect took both ends of the twin bill from the league's newcomers, the boys winning 28-15 while the Prospect girls were recording a 17-13 victory in a hard fought battle.

The Agosta girls in particular put up a valiant struggle before bowing to the Prospect lassies. Prospect took the lead in the first period and held it through the first half but an Agosta rally brought the battle back to even terms again in the third frame and forced Prospect the limit in the last period before they were able to chalk up the four point victory. Reynolds of Prospect led the scorers with four buckets and was trailed by Withrow of Agosta with three two pointers.

The Agosta boys threatened in the first period to add another upset to the long list in the county last night but the attack faltered after the opening frame and Prospect rode to victory by a 28-15

LA RUE BEATS MORRAL

West Half Champions Lose First Game of Season 28-26.

LaRue High school boys have had only a 50-50 season this year on the hardwood but all this is forgotten today as the townsfolk gather to talk over the well-earned victory which the LaRue tossers chalked up last night over Morral, two-year champions of the West division of the Marion county league. LaRue handed the champs their first setback of the 1931 season last night on the LaRue court, winning by a 28-26 margin after a bitter conflict.

With Ben Sager lighting the pathway with five field goals for a total of 10 points, the LaRue team battled Morral to a standstill to record its fifth victory of the season.

Morral started the game with one of its characteristic scoring sprees that carried it well out in front and kept it there until the half was reached. In the second half LaRue's scoring guns commenced working overtime, the bombardment of shots ringing up enough points to overcome the early advantage of the champions. A last period drive that netted seven points for LaRue to five for Morral provided the two points which spelled victory for LaRue.

While the LaRue boys were turning back Morral, the Morral girls kept their season's slate clean by walloping the LaRue girls by a 31-9 count. Washburn, the county's leading scorer, added 18 points to her season's total with eight baskets and a pair of charity tosses.

Claridon, Morral Girls Complete Season with Perfect Records.

The Claridon High school boys basketball team has been threatening for some time to step out and put the skids under one of the leaders in the East half of the Marion county circuit but until last night the threat never materialized into anything definite. Last night it did, as the boys of Waldo will testify, they having been the victims of a 20-19 setback at the hands of the team coached by A. B. Augenstein.

The defeat blasted Waldo out of undisputed possession of second place in the league standings and shoved them into a tie with Kirkpatrick, forcing the Copeland team to play a post season game and take the chance of being pushed another notch lower into third place.

Claridon deserved the victory over Waldo last night. The Augenstein-coached team outscored Waldo in three of the four periods and earned their slim one-point victory. Long, who played a good all around game for Waldo, was high scorer of the game with nine markers. R. Frayer led the Claridon quintet with eight points.

The Claridon girls retained their perfect record for the season by chalking up their tenth straight victory over Waldo but the win was not accomplished without a terrific battle to overcome a fighting Waldo sextet. Claridon won by one point, 22-21 and did this only by staging a last period rally that netted eight points and brought them from behind to win. Waldo shut out the winners in the third period, not allowing them to score a single point.

Wilcox of Claridon was high scorer with 16 points. Strine was high for Waldo with 12 markers.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 13—Attended by weather of entirely the wrong kind, the 1932 winter Olympic games came down to the final day today in a welter of moisture and confusion.

It wasn't the final day at all, as a matter of fact, for tomorrow, after the games have been closed officially at 3 p. m., the four man bob-sled drivers still have to stage their Olympic championship.

But the bob-sled situation caused by a sudden return of spring and bright sunshine where there should be blustery cold and snow, was only one of the complications.

Officials still tried to explain why Hans Beck of Norway was awarded the ski-jumps title shortly after the jumps ended and three hours later, on a recount, Birger Rudd, his team mate, was given the award, and they still were trying to patch together all the loose snow left in the hills for footing for the 50 kilometers cross country ski run today with little success.

DRUMM TAKES LEAD IN BILLIARDS PLAY

Blanchard "Doggie" Drumm took the lead last night in the Ohio pocket billiards league when he defeated Ike Chase by a score of 125 to 42 at the recreation billiard parlors here. Chase, a former Marion resident, had been figured as one of the best contestants in the circuit but Drumm had no difficulty in beating him last night.

Drumm turned in one high run of 27 against a high of 14 for Chase.

The next home match for Drumm will be on Feb. 15 when he meets Lowe of Mechanicsburg.

YOU cannot telegraph in the want ads. The other fellow can only visualize as you write, and that's why you'll get RESULTS if you WRITE the RIGHT kind of an ad. In describing what you want to sell or rent, always remember that your prospect may live out of town, and he measures your ad with the others. Naturally the BEST ad gets BEST RESULTS. Many a car is sold because the ad said "Small Down Payment." Houses have been rented where ad said "near bus line." Room ads that said "Home cooked breakfast" and apartments because the ad said "janitor service."

WHEAT SCORES BRISK GAINS

New Upturns at Chicago Follow Continued Wall Street Advances.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 — Brisk new upturns of grain values early today accompanied fresh jumps in securities. Announcement of good sized North American wheat exportations and of higher wheat quotations at Liverpool were stimulating factors together with a further five per cent increase of France's wheat import quota making the total now 20 per cent. Opening ⅞@1⅛ advance, Chicago wheat futures subsequently held near the initial range. Corn started ⅝@¾ up and afterward rose further.

A general rush to buy wheat took place, and heavy profit taking on advances led to only brief fractional setbacks, with rallies later higher than before. Expectance of speedy enactment of credit expansion measure continued to receive chief notice as a bullish factor. Special attention was also given to Winnipeg reports of big purchases of Canadian wheat for shipment overseas.

Broadening of speculative interest regarding grain was mainly attributed to constructive financial moves at Washington. Pronounced strength of the New York stock market was taken by most wheat traders as indicating that for at least the time being general business stimulation would follow. Crop damage possibilities from cold weather in domestic winter wheat territory were a contributing bullish influence. Corn and oats rose with wheat.

as the game started but was suddenly checked by Green Camp and forced to battle to gain even a slight advantage. Meeker led at the end of the first period by two points but the advantage was lost as Green Camp rallied in the second frame to bring the count to 10-all by the half way point.

Green Camp swept into a two-point lead in the third period and then saw it fade into another deadlock in the last frame as Meeker rallied to drop in the tying points. The score was 20-20 when the regular playing time was ended.

Meeker tossed three points through the hoop in the three minutes extra playing time while the most Green Camp could amass was two, bringing the count to 23-22 in favor of Meeker—to give Green Camp a lot of satisfaction for having played a good game and Meeker a lot of enjoyment for having won its eighth game.

FLEASANT WINS FAIR

Martel Ends Season in Cellar by Losing Two Games.

Pleasant township boys and girls cage combination rode roughshod over the Green and White of Martel last night in a brace of contests played on the Martel court. The Pleasant boys won 46-25 and the girls were victors by a 22-9 score. The double setback keeps the Martel teams in the cellar posts for the season, both teams having failed to annex a victory in 10 starts.

With the Pleasant boys popping the ball through the meshes from all corners of the court, Martel had little chance last night to end the season with a victory. Coach Burnhart's boys took the lead in the first frame and never lost it at any stage of the melee.

The Pleasant girls also staged somewhat of a track meet at the expense of Martel, Holliday leading the assault on the net with a total of 13 tallies. Ott scored all of the nine points collected by Martel.

225 Delegates Attend Opening of Conference

Ohio Young Men Meet Here for Annual Session; Cincinnati Pastor Speaks at Banquet in First Presbyterian Church.

Two hundred and twenty-five delegates to the state Young Men's conference were told that courage to stand behind their convictions was an important factor of good citizenship at the opening banquet last night in the First Presbyterian church. Dr. James Thomas, pastor of the Hyde Park Methodist church in Cincinnati, was the speaker.

Dr. Thomas interjected anecdotes from his varied career as a miner, pugilist, college athlete and minister in his talk.

Dr. Thomas advocated that as long as many churches have progressive tendencies, they should realize the value of the youth in the community. He urged that they take the young off the streets at night. As a means of accomplishing this, Dr. Thomas proposed churches be kept open each day from 3:30 p. m. to 10.30 p. m. to furnish, in a sense, club rooms, for wholesome companionship.

Would Cut Crime

Through a positive program such as this to care for youth, crime in the communities so doing would be cut in half. Dr Thomas declared

Roy Watson Presides

Roy Watson of Canton, president of the Ohio Young Men's council, presided with Sherman Haldeman, representing the Marion Squareheads club, as toastmaster. Rev. Howard L. Olewiler gave the invocation. R. F. Fletcher, chairman of the executive committee for the conference, gave the address of welcome. Fletcher told the young men that while it is harder now to be a Christian, due to the seeming growth of irrelevancy, there is a great need for stamina and enthusiasm.

The response was by Ray Jerme of Cleveland, who expressed, for all the delegates the hope that the conference will give them a clear-cut idea of how to give the people of the world a happier, more friendly, more secure life and that the basis of a new understanding may be had here.

The Bachelors' male quartet, representing the Bachelors' club of the Columbus Central Y. M. C. A., sang a group of numbers. Members of the quartet were Dean Snyder, Philip Carter, Ralph Kagay and Harold Deis. Snyder also led group singing, accompanied by Edgar Barnhart at the piano.

225 Registered

In addition to the cities already announced, delegates were reported last night from Bellevue and Bryan.

The 225 registered delegates present acclaimed Dr. Thomas for his presentation of their problems in a man-to-man fashion. His topic was "Opportunities of Citizenship." Among the thoughts driven home by the speaker was that to follow the steps of the Good Samaritan, especially at this time, in caring for the other fellow, was a real way of proving good citizenship. Another was to realize the value of the common man, in whom the spirit of God has been instilled as much as any one, and to conceive the idea of international brotherhood.

is a king, that the ruling of our country depends on the action of the individual and fourth, that each citizen should know what the government is doing and attempt to understand it.

Dr. Slutz told the conference that if studies were less about Caesar, Napoleon and other remote characters, and concentrated on present-day international relationships with an idea of understanding one another, world peace would not seem such an idealistic possibility.

Must Fight Illiteracy

"One thing we must fight," Dr. Slutz asserted, "is the new illiteracy, that policy of believing any propaganda if it is repeated often enough. We must know how to get the facts and understand them. We must be taught that life is bigger than our understanding and is full of fine things beyond our powers of comprehension." He urged the delegates not to let the lack of understanding prevent them from enjoying the good things of life and to keep from becoming cynical.

Before luncheon at the church, a picture was taken of the conference grouped on the steps of the Harding memorial. After lunch, Dr Slutz met the delegates again to answer questions concerning his talk.

A basketball tournament for the conference championship got under way this afternoon in the Marion Steam Shovel Co. gym on west Center street Teams entered were from Cleveland, Cincinnati, Painesville, Van Wert, Zanesville and Mt Vernon.

Delegates not taking part or watching the tournament were taken on trips around Marion, through industrial plants and a special visit to the Harding home on Mt. Vernon avenue. Those interested in hobbies were shown through the office of Dr F. A. Stengel on south Main street.

A fellowship supper will start at 5 45 p m at the First Presbyterian church Dr Slutz will give a final statement and summary. The program will include special music by the Bachelors' club male quartet of Columbus and a play by the dramatic club of Heidelberg college at Tiffin. The play will be "Ba Thane," a story of missionaries in China Members of the cast were Edward Schillingman, Eleanor Shoots, Rowena Derr, Kenneth Kohler, Ray Hartsough, Jimmie Yee and Thelma Batesole.

An informal reception for all delegates will start at 9 p. m. in The Star auditorium, with a number of Marion young men and women as guests. The auditorium was decorated today for the event, which will be a high-spot of the three-day conference An act of tap-dancing will be presented by Miss Marilyn Meseke, Allan Quick, Miss Maxine Schlagenhauf and Miss Phyllis Tierney.

The election of officers and the closing session of the conference will be held Sunday morning. Mr Sproul will speak on "Answering the Challenge," taking up part of the study of citizenship K. A. Shumaker of Columbus, state secretary of the Ohio Y. M. C. A, will lead a devotional service.

Leaders of discussion groups this morning at the church were R. L. Dickinson of Columbus, Clyde E. Murray of Cleveland, Howard H Keeler of Dayton, Dean Snyder of Columbus, Edward J. McCoy of Canton, Bud How of Akron and J W. Goodnough of Massillon

Central Ninth Wins Game from Edison Combination

The powerful court aggregation representing the ninth grade of Central Junior High school scored a 13-11 victory yesterday over the Edison Junior ninth grade team on the latter's floor The West side team grabbed a five point lead in the opening quarter and clung to the advantage until the third period when Central turned loose a scoring drive that swept away the Edison lead and carried the uptown boys to the fore. The Central five added seven points to its score in the second half while holding Edison to a pair of tallies.

Edison was handed its second setback in one day when the Central Junior eighth grade combine finished on the long end of a 24-5 score Edison scored a field goal in the first period of the eighth grade battle and that was the lone two pointer tossed in by the losers in the entire game.

Edison made it one out of three in another game as the seventh grade turned in a 17-11 victory over the Vernon Heights seventh grade tossers in a game played on the Vernon court.

STUDEBAKER IS QUALITY CAR

New Models Typify Notable Advance in Automotive Progress.

New Studebaker models at the automobile show this year represent a far-reaching advance in automotive progress. Studebakers are sold in Marion by the Hoch Motor Sales Co., 194 south Prospect street.

Having successfully pioneered the way to a new conception of motoring thrill and thrift with its perfection of free wheeling, Studebaker has devoted its entire research and engineering facilities to the development of additional improvements in performance, safety, comfort, and appearance.

Last year, President Albert Russel Erskine of Studebaker forecast that all cars would adopt free wheeling. Events have shown how well founded was his conviction and how accurate his prophecy. Introduced by Studebaker in July 1930, free wheeling is now a feature of practically every make of automobile.

Reaches New High Mark

Not content to rest on its laurels however, Studebaker has carried its engineering innovation to a new height of perfection—free wheeling in all forward speeds plus synchronized shifting representing the very apex of scientific transmission development, according to the manufacturer. In addition, the new Studebaker cars offer other refinements which include increased wheelbases, increased body dimensions, new convertible body types, safety plate glass standard throughout, cushioned power, automatic starting, automatic ride control, full automatic spark control, efficient silencing of engine, chassis and body, new "aircurve" body design, and new Empire colors. Prices, ranging from $840 to $1,890, are the lowest in Studebaker history.

Twenty two smart new models, completely redesigned as to appearance, are offered on four wheelbases the President Eight, the Commander Eight the Dictator Eight, and the Studebaker Six.

Republicans Pay Tribute to Lincoln at Dinner

Fred Warner, District Committeeman, Is Host to County Executive Body at Hotel Marion; Lay Plans To Pick Convention Delegates.

Speakers paid tribute to Lincoln when the Republican executive committee was entertained at a banquet in Hotel Marion last night by Fred W. Warner, member of the state central committee.

It was decided that the county executive and central committees would meet with candidates for county offices Friday night, Feb 26, to recommend a slate of delegates to the state convention. Delegates to the convention will be chosen at the May 10 primary.

Wants Hoover Indorsement

Considerable discussion preceded this decision. It was proposed that a group of delegates be selected last night for recommendation. Approving this suggestion, Hoke Donithen first tried to submit a resolution that the executive committee unanimously indorse President Hoover for reelection. Since the meeting last night was not a formal one but a social affair. Acting Chairman W. N. Harder did not submit the resolution for a vote.

It was then proposed that a committee of three appointed by Mr. Harder recommend delegates and alternates, but this plan was not popular. Grant E. Mouser pointed out that it was important that the delegates be truly representative of the sense of the county Republican organizations, and that harmony within the organizations and among the delegates was essential.

W. N. Harder, acting chairman in the absence of W. B. Strayer, was one of the three speakers. The Republican party has reason to be proud of Abraham Lincoln, Mr. Harder said.

Mr. Harder applied Lincoln's Gettysburg address to the present. We can not consecrate the memory of Lincoln, for he is above any tributes we might pay. It is for us to dedicate ourselves to the unfinished tasks he began, Mr. Harder declared. Speaking of Lincoln as an individual, Mr. Harder said that Lincoln's self-education with comparatively little schooling should be an inspiration to every young man.

Clark Speaks

Lincoln was pictured by John H. Clark as a man who pulled a whole race of people out of slavery up to the ground of citizenship. He was one of the most unselfish men in history, sacrificing public favor during the Civil war to stand by the cause he believed was deserving, Mr. Clark said.

Tribute to Lincoln's character and to his ability to stand firmly behind his cause was paid by Grant E. Mouser. Lincoln was unpopular in Washington and was assailed bitterly at times for his action during the war, but he never struck back at his enemies, riding out the storm of criticism without malice, the speaker said.

HAIR DRYING PLAN NOW DRIES OUT HAY

By United Press

BERKELEY, Cal.—The beauty parlor, which makes beautiful women more beautiful, and ordinary women into Hollywood actresses, has come to the aid of the farmer and enabled him to save his hay crop.

The hair dryer, which cuts down skull laundry work, applied to farming, has proved a superlative hay dryer, experiments of Prof. Roy Balner of the University of California reveal.

Artificial hay drying means a greener cutting and a consequent saving of leaves. The farmer has been up against it heretofore, when it came to drying hay. Despite his best efforts, he usually was caught by a rain, which bleached out the color and reduced vitamin A, which makes cows contented.

Hay is now dumped into a dryer, Balner states, at a cost of about $5.25 a ton. Cows fed machine-dried hay, roll up their eyes, exclaim "U-u-m!" and add another inch to the cream line on the milk bottle without being told.

Lincoln and Kingensetsu Henry Ford's News To Conquer Turtle Germs Mussolini Kneels

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 13—Yesterday America celebrated the birthday of Lincoln and wondered what he would think of our troubles, as compared with his own. The day before Japan celebrated Kingensetsu, which is her Fourth of July, but much more ancient than our firecracker day. Kingensetsu is sacred to the memory of Jimmu Tenno, descendant of the sun goddess who founded Japan and started the present line of Mikados, in the year 660 before Christ, twenty-five hundred and ninety-two years ago.

Because Japan has a war, Kingensetsu was celebrated vigorously. One hundred thousand persons, mainly school children, paraded in Tokyo with bands. Japan believes in impressing the next generation with the enthusiasms of this. All the marchers bowed their heads as they passed before the imperial palace. Japan is a nation of solidarity, its sporadic radicalism not even skin deep.

HENRY FORD'S plans are announced, semiofficially. He will produce an eight-cylinder Ford at moderate price, and continue making his four-cylinder Model A cars, probably at lower prices than hitherto. The eight and four-cylinder engines will be interchangeable. You may put an eight-cylinder engine in your four-cylinder Ford for a long tour, or a four-cylinder engine in your larger eight-cylinder for gas economy at home.

During the recent aviation exposition in Detroit, Mr. Ford told this writer that he was working on an eight-cylinder engine. As a matter of fact, he had made such engines, showed one to this writer many years ago, and has been developing them ever since. The automobile atmosphere is now cleared, with uncertainty removed, except as to new Ford prices.

HERE IS NEWS important to doctors and their patients, especially the old, that so often die of pneumonia. Dr. O. T. Avery, engaged in research at the Rockefeller Institute, has discovered a method of piercing the protective armor of the pneumococcus, a germ producing pneumonia. That germ and some others like the streptococcus mucosus, so deadly in the blood stream, are protected against the attacks of the phagocytes, your white blood cells that kill ordinary germs, as the turtle, armadillo or porcupine is protected against the bite of a dog.

If Dr. Avery's discovery saves you, or a relative, be grateful to the John D. Rockefellers, father and son. Their constructive philanthropy, and money generously given, make the Rockefeller Institute possible.

Intensely interesting are details of Mussolini's visit to the Pope. No third person was present at the meeting, but this much is known: the Pope received the Italian premier with unusual honors, as dictator and as premier.

Pope Pius received Mussolini benevolently, the latter kneeling and kissing the Pope's hand and the ring of Saint Peter. The interview lasted a full hour, which is unusual. When it ended, Mussolini, further to emphasize his respect for the Pope's spiritual power, entered Saint Peter's Cathedral, and, kneeling, prayed at two altars, one the altar built above the tomb of the martyred Saint Peter, crucified head downward by his own choice because he was unworthy to be crucified as was the Savior. If you go to Cologne, see the magnificent picture of that crucified one, given by Rubens to the little church opposite the house his parents lived in.

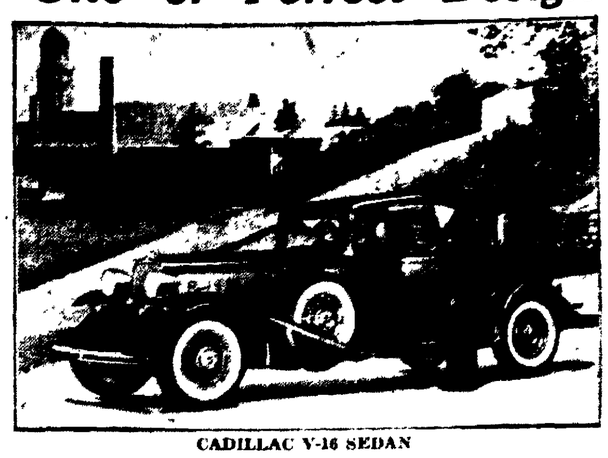
Cadillac-La Salle Line One of Perfect Design



CADILLAC V-16 SEDAN

LA SALLE FIVE-PASSENGER SEDAN

America's almost insatiable taste for motor car luxury, comfort and modish refinements is generously answered in the new Cadillac-La Salle line displayed at the Marion automobile show this year. These high quality cars are sold in Marion by the McDaniel Motor Co., 309 west Center street.

Ultra-modern appointments, undreamed of five years ago, are in evidence on all cars in this popular line. The visitor carries away from the Cadillac-LaSalle display a definite impression of luxury; of inlaid walnut panels, deep, rich upholsteries; luxuriously comfortable seats; of expensive vanity and smoking sets; heavy carpets and other fine appointments that distinguish the new Cadillac and La Salle.

A total of 62 different standard body choices is offered in the Cadillac-LaSalle line, divided between the LaSalle V-8, Cadillac V-8, Cadillac V-12 and Cadillac V-16. This is one of the widest selections ever offered by Cadillac and is made up of 41 Fisher bodies and 21 bodies by Fleetwood.

New LaSalle Model

The LaSalle line this year shows a new model, the five-passenger town coupe with a body by Fisher. This newest La Salle has extra large front seats which fold forward, when desired. Ample leg room is provided for passengers in the broad rear seat, and an exceptionally large built in trunk compartment makes this car ideal for touring.

Broadcloth, whipcord and mohair upholstery are offered on all cars, and in designs that will please the most discriminating motorist.

All the new Cadillacs and La Salle closed models offer greater headroom and wider seats this year, and the shoulder room has been increased by three inches. Dome and quarter lights of appealing design are shown in these cars. Both the sedans and imperials are equipped with robe rails, and, in many of the models, these rails are covered with upholstery cloth.

Incidentally, on all open models ash receptacles are provided in all four doors. Phaetons also have folding center arm rests [illegible] rear seats. An improved [illegible] top is used on the new Cadillac La Salle models, this year they are extremely easy to [illegible]. Teal cloth is used for [illegible] ing on all open and [illegible] models.

The all-weather phaetons are provided with glass partitions between the tonneau and the front compartment. This partition may be raised or lowered at will.

All Cadillac five and seven passenger closed models also have folding center arm rests [illegible] rear seats. All cars, both open and closed, are provided with commodious package lockers on the right hand side of the instrument panel. These compartments may be securely locked.

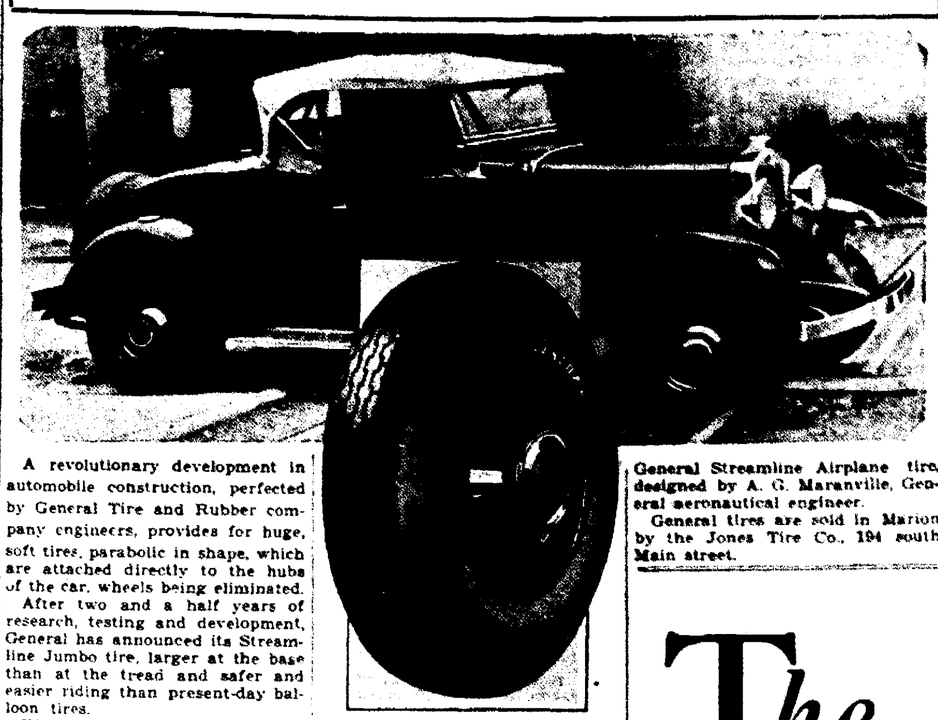
JUMBO TIRES PROVIDE NEW RIDING COMFORT



General Streamline Airplane tire, designed by A. G. Maranville, General aeronautical engineer.

General tires are sold in Marion by the Jones Tire Co., 194 south Main street.

A revolutionary development in automobile construction, perfected by General Tire and Rubber company engineers, provides for huge, soft tires, parabolic in shape, which are attached directly to the hubs of the car, wheels being eliminated.

After two and a half years of research, testing and development, General has announced its Streamline Jumbo tire, larger at the base than at the tread and safer and easier riding than present-day balloon tires.

With two and one-half times as much air capacity as present-day balloon tires of the same size, the Streamline Jumbo tire literally gives to motorists the sensation of floating through the air.

Air pressure of from 10 to 14 pounds is recommended for these tires, as compared to pressure of from 25 to 40 pounds required for ordinary balloon tires.

Tire engineers have pointed out that the Streamline Jumpo is the first advance over the ordinary "Doughnut" type of balloon tire, which is wider at the middle than at the base or tread, causing a decrease in power when used at low air pressures.

The Streamline General has been developed by Charles J. Jahant, vice-president, and Robert Iredell, chief engineer, of the General Tire and Rubber company, upon tire engineering principles involved in the

WILLYS OFFERS NEW FEATURES

Assurance of Utmost Comfort in Riding Found in 1932 Models.

While numerous features of comfort are included in the 1932 Willys-Overland Sixes and Eights and Willys-Knight anniversary models, a most important improvement is in the provision of insulated bodies. This insulation provides against noises and drafts and also against transmission of engine or road vibrations, Willys-Overland cars are sold by the McDaniel Motor Co., 310 west Center street.

Willys-Overland engineers conducted insulation tests over a period of many months before achieving this marked engineering advancement, which is in line with the company's policy of providing every modern convenience for comfortable motoring. No longer need driver or passengers be subjected to ills that often result from drafts that seep through the body at various points nor to those bothersome road and engine vibrations which tend to set up a drumming noise within the body.

Fitting in with this plan is the improvement in the clutch which has been accomplished by the interposition of a spring damper plate to absorb and dampen higher speed vibrations. This procures a softer and quieter ride.

Every detail has been carefully worked out to insure comfort under all conditions.

"Our entire factory organization has long been aware that the values offered in 1932 must surpass even those of 1931 if we are to secure the large share of returning business that is certain to come," L. A. Miller, president of the Willys-Overland Co., stated recently. "Our production and engineering divisions have put their combined ability into producing at low prices the outstanding quality line of all Willys-Overland history."

POCKETS HELD IN PLACE

The door pockets on the new Hudson cannot sag because the slide fastener which closes them is on an arc. This curvature draws the pocket together and prevents stretching.

NEW BALLOON TIRES SHOWN

Local Dealer To Demonstrate Advantages of Goodyear "Airwheel."

A demonstration of the new Goodyear Airwheel tire—those big, pillow-like balloons which make automobiles look and feel as though they were riding on comfortable rubber doughnuts, will be given by the Mapes Tire company, 146 south Main street, local Goodyear dealers, during Auto Week—it was announced today by H. R. Mapes, manager.

A service truck, the type that is so familiar to motorists here—and so welcome when they have trouble on the road—will exhibit the new type of tires and demonstrate their advantages on Marion streets and at the Mapes store.

Mr. Mapes invites all Marion motorists to see the new tires and stop at the store for complete information about them, "Of course," he added, "there will be no obligation whatever. We are only too glad to give information and answer questions abut the new Airwheels."

"Fifteen of the popular makes of cars can now be fitted with the new Goodyear Airwheel tire," he said, explaining that the new type tire is made at present in four sizes: 6.50-16; 7.50-15; 8.25-15 and 9.00-13. The first three sizes are available with the new Silent All-Weather Tread design which eliminates hum or rumble.

"Air pressure in the new tires," he said, "varies with the weight of the car and the size of the tire used. Made up in complete units of Airwheel tire, tube and discs the new equipment is ready to slip on the axles of 15 makes of cars."

ASSURANCE OF SAFETY

The safety-steel bodies used in the 1932 De Soto Sixes are in one complete unit, containing neither wood, glue, screws or nails, thereby advancing the margin of safety that has always characterized De Soto cars.

VALUE ESTABLISHED

Floating Power, the exclusive Chrysler Motors two-point rubber engine mounting which is a feature on the new Dodge Six and Eight is of proven value, having been used on more than 100,000 Plymouth cars.

Sound-Film Plans Fail—Failure of the soviet sound-film plans and experiments, for which much propaganda was made some time ago, has been admitted by the soviet press, according to word from Germany. All soviet film organizations are to be submitted to revision and the supreme council of national economy also is to take up the question. Enormous sums are said to have been spent in the attempt to create a Russian sound-film industry.

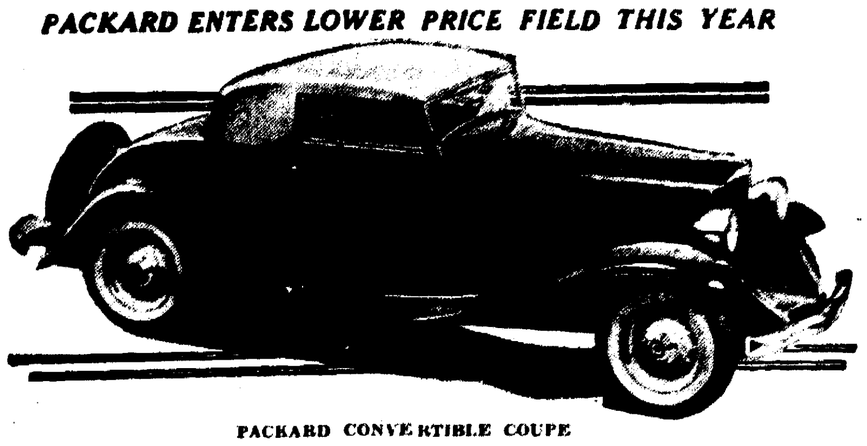
PACKARD ENTERS LOWER PRICE FIELD THIS YEAR



PACKARD CONVERTIBLE COUPE

PACKARD ADDS NEW FEATURES

Light Eight and Twin Six Displayed; Enters Lower Price Field.

The Packard Motor Car Co. brings to the Marion automobile show this year a completely new car, the Packard light eight, as well as a new Packard twin six which it has reestablished as the leader of its lines of products.

These two new cars give Packard four complete lines, with 41 body models in addition to its individual custom cars. With the light eight the company enters a lower price field new to Packard. The Packard lines are displayed by the local distributor, the Hoch Motor Sales Co., 194 south Prospect street.

The twin six, which revives memories of one of the country's best known motor cars, the Packard twin six of 15 years ago, enters that exclusive and limited production field where the last word in motoring luxury is demanded and where prices are correspondingly higher.

First to Build 12

In announcing that it is again building a 12-cylinder motor for automobiles, Packard points out that it was the first to produce a 12-cylinder car in this country, and perhaps in the world, and that it has been engaged ever since the introduction of the original twin six, in July 1915, in the designing and manufacturing of twin six motors.

The company referred in this to the long line of marine and aircraft engines using the V-type 12-cylinder principle. These engines started with the original Packard aircraft engine which was created from the experience gained in designing and making the twin six car motor and which was the basis of the design of the famous war-time Liberty engine.

They continued after the Liberty engine with others more powerful, each new design successively being the most powerful aircraft or motor boat engine in the world. The latest types were the first to propel a human being at 100 miles an hour in a boat. They have been used by Gar Wood, famous speed boat racer, for several years and power his latest marine speed creation.

Will Has Great Time Visiting Japanese Movie Studio; They Have Favorites, Too

BY WILL ROGERS

TOKYO, by mail—Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I see as I prowl, and this is the prowlingest Country there is to prowl in These Japanese they sure do try to do things up in real European or western style. Got to tell you about the Hotel we, (when I say We, I mean Floyd Gibbons and I, he come over on the same boat with me,) well its called the Imperial. Its built of bricks but its low and rambling. Its freaky looking but you kinder like it after awhile! It of course was built by an American architect, but it was the only thing that stood up during the Earthquake.

These Japanese have a real City here, about two and a half million, and it almost connects with Yokohoma another big City and their principal seaport. They are of course excited over the war in China. These Japanese take their wars serious, they go in em to win em. Of course all the Propaganda you get here is on their side, naturally, they feel they got a lot of money invested in that Country and they want to be in charge of things so they can supervise things their way.

Course the whole thing is so mixed up with Treatys, and secret agreements and Understandings, that nobody knows head or tail to who's claim is any good.

Visits Studio

Well this is a great Movie Country. They make more Movies here than they do at home, and naturally I wanted to see some of the Studio's. You know the old Gag, when a Motorman is off he visits another Motorman and rides with him. Well being off from the Studio for a couple of months before I was to start another picture why naturally I must go see somebody else make em. But they have a lot of Studios over here, so Mr. Dwight Davis, the Governor General of the Philippines and his very lovely Daughter who were on their way back home, were here at the time and they wanted to see a Japanese Studio too, so we got our Company's Representative, in charge of Fox Pictures out here and he arranged it.

Well we finally got out there. Of course it was a pretty sad lot after seeing the tremendous things at home. But yet it had the same stuff at that. Mind you they make their Pictures at an average cost of five thousand Dollars, where our cheapest will run $150,000. But they do a good job with what they have. They dident happen to be shooting that morning, said they had worked the night before, that sounded kinder natural But we had tea, that was the minute we went in. They sure will load you up on tea if you do any visiting around. Just at the drop of the hat somebody will start bringing in tea. They started out to try and scare up some of the Stars. You know they have favorites over there just like ours, and some of em are big drawing cards. Well we walked all around among the old buildings, you know theirs are all silent pictures, they have only made one or two Talkies, they dont like em so well, only the foreign ones.

They dug up a Screen Star and she was pretty. They had a Camera man that followed us around just like they do at home, where he is on publicity and snaps everything in the world they will never be used. I often wondered what they do with all the Pictures over home that Photographers take and that are never used.

None of them spoke any English and none of us any Japanese. But we bowed and giggled and pointed, and drink more tea, and had a fine time and I had quite a thrill of visiting a Japanese Studio. Course then I did a lot of Picture going in what little time I had there. They get our Pictures out there right soon after they are released, and the Stars that are big here are over there too. These Japanese sure will try anything, and get away with it. Everything at home we make or do, or wear, they get here, and make it.

Traffic Bad

Course they got lots of Automobiles around Tokio, and good paved streets. But what gives you a scare is to be in one of these Rickasha's and have em be going right down the middle of the street among about a million others and then coming right at you, and a Driver that is not sure he knows where he is going coming at you in an automobile. Here you are sitting up there in this frail little contraption. Nothing ahead of you but this Bird hauling it, and here comes this big car lumbering at you. Sometimes I have seen em missed by three and four inches. I quit riding in em, I says to myself if two things is going to meet me for being the biggest one, so I got into the car.

There is lots of green over here even at this time of the year, and they do love flowers. They all got a little flower of some kind, they can make what they got go a long way, and they are awful neat and clean. There is a lot of fine qualities about em, and they are just about the most ambitious folks you ever saw. They are for progress, no matter what it is. All this has been done in 50 years, and they are proud to show you their country, and if you ever want to make a real trip dont overlook em.

ONE OF NEW BUICK DETAILS

The front license plate bracket of the new 1932 Buick eight is placed to the right of the radiator. This not only improves the appearance of the front end, but aids in cooling by permitting a freer sweep of air to the radiator cores.

CONSERVES LUBRICANT

The new shackles used in the 1932 Buick eight have threaded bolts and bushings. This construction is self-adjusting and makes the shackles permanently quiet and also holds the lubricant for a much longer time.

UTMOST IN CONVENIENCE

The free wheeling control button on the new Rockne Six cars is located on the dash, at the left of the adjustable steering column. The car is also equipped with synchronized shifting in all forward gears.

WORLD'S FASTEST TRAIN IS POPULAR

LONDON — The world's fastest train, the Cheltenham Flier, has covered 6,000 miles in 5223½ minutes, during the first three months of her record-breaking run between London and Swindon.

This time is only seven and one-half minutes over the total schedule allowed for the 78 miles, in spite of difficult conditions due to signal checks and reduced speeds at points where alterations are being carried out on the line. The scheduled time for the 77¼ miles between the two cities is 67 minutes, but on her first three runs in September the Cheltenham Flier did the trip in 59½, 58 and 57½ minutes, respectively.

So popular is this train among Britishers and foreign visitors that many make the journey merely for the distinction of traveling on it. Globe-trotters who delight in plastering their grips and trunks with souvenir labels are sought by the Great Western railway, which has provided a "sticker" reproduction of the Cheltenham Flier for baggage.

She Loses Leg, Gets Watch—Miss Janet C. Pappet, a teacher at Ayr, Scotland, who on Nov. 14, 1928, sustained serious injuries, including the loss of her right leg while seeing to the safety of her pupils, after the collapse of the roof of the building during a gale, has just been awarded a gold wrist watch, valued at $100, by the Carnegie Hero Fund trustees. The trustees say they might do something more for her later, if necessary.

Work of Designers and Engineers Gives Utmost in Beauty, Performance.

Both the stylist and the mechanically minded will be equally interested in the new Oldsmobiles being exhibited by Lautenslager Oldsmobile, Inc., 203 south Main street. One will find that the designers and engineers have worked hand-in-hand in combining beauty and automotive performance in both the larger, finer Oldsmobile Six and the new Oldsmobile Straight Eight.

Graceful stream lines feature the new Oldsmobiles. The long oval radiator shell introduced last year on Oldsmobile has been retained with modifications, while new lines of hood and cowl accentuate the additional length of chassis and bodies. The profuse, but artistic, use of chromium plating provides an exterior trimming in keeping with the luxurious finish of the interiors.

An Enginnering Achievement

But it is in advanced engineering that this veteran of the automotive industry has distinguished itself. Officials of the company state that never in the nearly 35-year history of the car has an Oldsmobile contained so many new features which improve driving ease, riding comfort and such performance characteristics as acceleration, speed, hill climbing and safety.

Among the more important of these new features are a selective ride regulator with dash control and double-action hydraulic shock absorbers; free wheeling with improved syncro-mesh transmission and silent second gear; an engine decarbonizer; full automatic choke; improved down-draft manifolding and carburetion on both the Six and the Eight, with dual carburetion and manifolding on the eight-cylinder engine; high compression cylinder head; automatic heat control; oil temperature regulator; longer, 116½-inch wheel base; and complete rubber insulation between engine and chassis, and chassis and body.

These and the other new Oldsmobile features provide exceptional performance. The Six, although materially larger than the 1931 Oldsmobile, shows a 20 per cent increase in acceleration with comparable increases in speed and hill climbing, the engineers report, while the Eight developes all the additional power to be expected from this larger engine.

"BAD GIRL" WILL RETURN TO STATE

On of the 10 best pictures of 1931, "Bad Girl" will return to Marion to play Sunday and Monday at the State. This picture brought fame and stardom to James Dunn and Sally Eilers and since the overwhelming success of "Bad Girl," they have made "Dance Team." The picture is recommended without reservations, as one that will provide entertainment for any audience.

Scotch Society Hits Russia—Remarkable allegations against the soviet for its attitude towards the Christian religion in Russia are made in a report of the National Bible society of Scotland at the annual meeting in Edinburgh recently. According to the report no fewer than 70,000 churches, synagogues and mosques have been closed, and have mostly been transformed into movie theaters or clubs. In some churches priests are compelled to hang up pictures of Lenin, Stalin, and Rykoff. All religious literature is forbidden. Since May, 1929, any one possessing a copy of a Bible is deemed guilty of a crime against the state, which will be severely punished. All Bibles must be pulped to make paper for newspapers owing to the crisis in the state paper industry, according to the report.

Old-Age Pensions Increase—The cost of old-age pensions to taxpayers of England this year is $1,720,000 greater than was expected, and had to be covered in a supplementary estimate. Government heads say this increase is because of old methods of estimating the tenure of life, which now for women is 12 years, and for men 10 years longer than it was at the beginning of this century.

BUICK VALUES STILL GROWING

Increased Variety of Models Supply Every Need of Motorist.

Celebrating its twenty-eighth year of continuous motor-car building, Buick for 1932, sold by The Danner Buick Co., 245 north Main street, offers the greatest variety of models, the most advanced styling and comfort and the widest price range in its history. The new Buick eights are presented in 26 models, grouped in four series, each series built on a different wheel base.

Every type of car that the present-day motorist may require is represented in the line.

Wizard Control on All

Every car in the line has Buick's new Wizard Control, resulting from the automatic clutch, free wheeling and silent-second syncro-mesh transmission. All of them have as standard equipment or may be equipped with Buick's ride regulator, that gives smooth riding on rough roads. They have Buick's engine oil temperature regulator, which adds immeasurably to the life of the engine; the new instrument panel that groups all instruments to the left, under the driver's eye, and many other advancements.

Then, too, all of them have the new Buick valve-in-head straight eight engine, famous for its power and long life, with increased horsepower in the smaller series and higher over-all performance in all series.

The small cars of the Buick line are the 32-50 series, built on the 114-inch wheelbase. There are eight models in this series, including a new five-passenger victoria coupe and a five-passenger convertible phaeton of unusually smart lines. The Buick eight engine for this series develops 78½ horsepower with standard compression and 82½ with high compression.

In the 33-60 series built on the 118-inch wheelbase, there are seven models. In design and finish these cars are almost identical with the bigger models and represent one of Buick's best values. The 33-60 series engine delivers 90-horsepower with standard compression, high compression increasing this to 96-horsepower.

4,000 MATCHES IN HAND-MADE VIOLIN

BERLIN—Fritz Huebke, Silesian worker, used 4,000 matches, several pots of glue and 365 of his off-hours to make the strangest violin of the world.

"If it does not sound like a Stradivarius," the proud amateur violin maker declared, "it's certainly got a fine tone."

From the violin makers' theory that an instrument is better the more it is glued, Fritz Huebke conceived the idea of constructing his match violin. He set down in his free evenings and polished matches with emery cloth. With infinite care he pasted the matches together, gradually developing the forms of a violin.

The most difficult task was to make the solid neck and the scroll because this part of the violin is exposed to considerable strain. But he finally succeeded. Even the pegs are made from matches.

Huebke is so delighted with his masterpiece that he plans to make a cello with matches.

Camping Rapidly Becoming One of Scouting's Leading Features

In the opinion of local scout leaders, camping one of the important phases of the scouting movement, is coming into recognition, not only during Boy Scout week, but also because of the bi-centennial of the great woodsman and camper, George Washington. Local scouts are dedicating special programs during the year and at camp this summer to his memory.

Camping is one of the emphasized parts of the local scout program. During the past four years, more than 1,850 Boy Scouts have been given a taste of outdoor life at Camp John A. Owens, south of Marion. Plans are now being prepared for an active camping program next summer to further swell this number.

The camp committee of which Charles H. Isaly is chairman, has been promoting plans for an all-year round use of its facilities, which have been taken advantage of considerably in recent years. Whole troops have taken overnight trips to the camp at any time of year and the site has been used for meetings of various scout organizations.

The same success which is greeting camping here is being duplicated nationally. More than 50 per cent of the total membership throughout the country enjoyed camp experiences last year and development and additions are continually being made to scout camping facilities. The number of scouts attending camps yearly is accepted by scout leaders as a tribute to the equipment given to the Boy Scouts for camping purposes.

There are now 54,779 acres in 287 camp sites owned by local Boy Scout councils in this country. An almost equal number is used on long term loans to the scouts.

A slogan of the Harding area council this year is "Every Scout a Camper," as well as "Every Scout a Swimmer." National records show that 23,805 boys were taught to swim in scout camps last season.

Besides Chairman Isaly, members of the local camping committee are Frank D. Glosser, Wilbur H. Symes, Cecil R. Leavens, Dr. E. L. Brady, Dr. Herman Rho, Elmer Schoenlaub and L. C. Stang.

These are photographs of the executive heads of Marion's automobile distributing agencies. During the coming week they are presenting at their respective places of business displays of the latest models of their cars, all representing the best that the automotive industry has ever produced. The public will find each and every one of these displays of unusual interest, since the various models are evidence of the remarkable achievements made by motor car designers in providing every possible comfort, convenience and service for automobile owners and drivers. The prediction has been that the automobile industry would lead the way to a new period of business revival and there are already indications that the movement is under way. Automobile shows throughout the country have been notable successes and Marion's has every prospect of measuring up to the same standard.

LINCOLN PROGRAM GIVEN AT SCHOOL

A program honoring Abraham Lincoln was given yesterday at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school. A three-act play was presented, "Lincoln, a Friend of the Slave," written by one of the girl students, Dee Turner.

The program was in charge of Miss Dorothy Strawser's homeroom. Patriotic songs were sung by the student body. A program of music included several trumpet solos by Robert Verburg and guitar solos by Perry Roark.

The seventh and eighth grade chorus which sang this morning in the preliminaries of the Marion school eisteddfod, sang Keller's "American Hymn," and several of the piano contestants played.

The members of the cast are Russell Cayton, George Clark, Margaret Rhoads, Imo Cates, Lucile Cudd, Leona Neville, Madolyn Gamble, Margaret Hennigh, Marvin Rozzman, and John Hickman. Miss Jane Creath is directing the production.

Especially smart is the front design of the new Pontiacs. The sharply V-shaped radiator is screened and protected by a new and sturdy built-in screen grille with chrome-plated vertical bars that emphasize strikingly its impressive depth.

New chromed headlamps, anchored through the heavily crowned fenders to the support arm beneath, eliminate the old-fashioned headlamp bar and permit the radiator lines to show to the best possible advantage. Stream-lined indicator lamps on the forward fenders are ultra-modern in design while the fenders themselves sweep gracefully back to meet the chrome moulding of the new rubber-covered steel running boards. The hood design is attractive with door-type ventilators and chrome plate on all outside metal.

Instruments of the new Rockne Six are of the ultra-modern aviation type. Round dials with needle indicators lend true distinction to the instrument panel. Instruments include speedometer, hydrostatic gasoline gauge, oil pressure gauge, ammeter and engine heat indicator.

DODGE ADDS TO ITS PAST ACHIEVEMENTS

Engineering Staff Perfects Numerous New Quality Features.

Even a hasty examination of the new Sixes and Eights that are being shown here through the Marion agency, the Stoltz garage, 136 north Prospect street, by Dodge Brothers reveals the fact that this 17-year-old manufacturer has cast aside some of its renowned conservatism and called upon the genius of its famous engineering staff to produce a series of models for 1932 of which the founders themselves could only be proud.

The closest inspection of the details of design, the quality of materials and the care in manufacture does not indicate the slightest tendency to slight that time-honored tradition for dependability upon which the reputation of Dodge motor cars has stood. As further proof of continued dependability, factory officials call attention to the fact that the Dodge Mileage Marathon car, one of the recent eight-cylinder sedans, finished a year of continuous running during which over 101,000 miles were covered at a total cost of only five cents a mile.

Air Resistance Reduced

The new beauty which Dodge Brothers' engineers introduced so successfully into their line a year ago, shows the effects of a great deal of refinement in the new cars with a modern conception of graceful blending and softening of body lines to produce an artistic effect and effectively cut down air resistance—the great power user. Of course, longer wheelbases and lower centers of gravity are the two factors which more than any others furnished the medium through which to express this delightful motif of new beauty. But tiny details, which a year or so ago would have been considered unworthy of attention, have been shaped and moulded with telling effect into the complete harmony of design.

The outstanding mechanical features found on the new Dodge cars for which the corporation's engineers are largely or wholly responsible, are the automatic clutch, floating power, free wheeling, silent gear selector, double-drop bridge-type frame, Oilite squeak-proof springs, silent-second gear, one-piece steel bodies, new brake drums and hydraulic four-wheel brakes.

SMOOTH RIDING

Not a Drop Spilled from Glass on Pontiac Running Board.

An interesting feat of smuggling was unintentionally achieved at Detroit recently by E. F. Potter of Detroit, now driving his sixth consecutive Pontiac.

Recently, Potter discovered on the running board of his Pontiac a drinking glass three-quarters full of beer.

Here's what had happened. On the previous day he had accompanied several friends to a picnic near Walkerville, Ontario. Beer was served and one of the guests had placed his glass on Potter's running board instead of on a table, and thoughtlessly had left it there.

Potter had driven back through the Detroit-Windsor tunnel, had passed the customs inspectors who searched his car without seeing the beer glass and finally had returned to his home through heavy week-end traffic without spilling a drop. The beer, however, had become too flat for beverage use.

PAST 8-MILLION MARK

The 8,000,000th Chevrolet came off the assembly line last Aug. 26. This car brings the number of six-cylinder cars built by the Chevrolet Motor company to nearly 8,000,000. The Chevrolet six supplanted the four in 1929.

PRICES AT LOW MARKS

In 1913, a standard Chevrolet passenger car sold for $2,500. Since 1932, no Chevrolet has listed as high as $1,000. Chevrolet's prices today are the lowest in history, while the car offers more than was dreamed of in bygone years.

WITH EDNA S. DUTTON

LIVES and loves of the descendants of Jonathan and Mary Trent, set in a background of progress furnish not only entertainment for young and old alike but provide an interesting picture of customs, dress, and family life. The author, Elizabeth Stancy Payne, has left nothing undone to make the story one of absorbing interest and entertainment. The novel is dedicated to the author's niece, Margaret L. Congdon because she, also loves "The Hills."

Although some members of the family move to Brooklyn, the story keeps for the most part to the old Trent homestead where the reader meets young Cynthia Trent, daughter of Jonathan and Mary Trent who were wed in 1802. One sees the last of the family in 1931, young Cynthia Trent Bannister, still a Trent.

The first Cynthia Trent brought down the wrath of her father a religious and stern man who ruled his household with an iron hand but always with a soft spot in his heart for little Cyn. It was little Cyn who sat up in the chill of her tiny bedroom to finish the muslin petticoat, a replica of Miss Fanny Kemble's bewitching garment with its tiny tucks set two inches apart from hem to hip, that she might imitate the style of the actress when Mr. David Wetherall should be a guest at the family dinner the following Thanksgiving day.

The second Cynthia, Cynthia Trent's granddaughter found a champion in Mrs. David Wetherall when it came to deciding between marrying Daniel Mead, who was studying for the ministry and her father's choice, one Clay Updike whose entrance into the family circle would prove a financial aid as well as a promising family connection. Although her life with the minister in his charges in the west were something of a hardship, Cynthia, being a true Trent woman made the best of it and it is their granddaughter who concludes the picture. This time it is young Cynthia's wealthy step-father who champions her cause when her mother voices some rather weak objections to her marriage with Nathaniel Trent, fifth.

In the end the author proves that only the settings are different and that the early Trent families had their strong points as well as their weaknesses and so did the last ones. It is a far cry from the lengthy prayer service conducted by one Jonathan Trent on that Thanksgiving day when he prayed at length for the entire household to young Cyn's birthday party when the noisy gang descended on the celebrant garbed in gaily colored pajamas and the smartest of straw hats for country wear.

Author Has First Novel Published

ERIKA ZASTROW, whose first novel, "Broken Arcs," is a February publication by Holt, wrote her first book 15 years ago. She submitted it to Henry Holt and company. The manuscript was rejected but returned with it was an encouraging letter from the editor. Miss Zastrow threw the manuscript away and began again. During the 15 years that have passed since that original rejection she has written seven more book-length novels. No one of these manuscripts, however, was submitted to a publisher for the simple reason that the author was never satisfied with the final result.

"Headlong" Is Story of Life

"HEADLONG" is a recent novel by Genevieve Parkhurst. It is the story of Victoria Mean; headlong, impetuous and engagingly romantic. It is the full panorama of her life, from the poignant disillusionment of youth through the struggles of early womanhood to the peace and tranquility that come with riper wisdom and maturity. The story moves against a background of California schooldays, a mushroom mining town, newspaper work in San Francisco and publicity work in New York.

After the bitterness and end of her youthful marriage Victoria, supporting her mother and children, experiences true love with her employer, Philip, a love that meets defeat through the sheer weight of circumstances. She carries on and finally, in New York meets with a measure of success as a business woman. How she meets her problem and works out a solution and her own salvation forms the engrossing climax of this readable and dignified novel of the problems of the modern woman "on her own." The publishers are Henry Holt and company.

Author Writes of Cockney Life

"THE OLD WOMAN TALKS" by F. O. Mann is a worthy successor to "Albert Grope," popular novel by that author. Mrs Burcombe reviews her own history and that of her children. The largest part of her tale is taken up with the matrimonial affairs of her sons and daughters. And Mr. Mann, wisely and skilfully, has shaped the old-woman's memories into a coherent whole. Humor, kindliness and shrewd observation fill every page of a satisfying and unusual novel of "Cockney life." The volume is published by Harcourt, Brace & Co.

"These Restless Heads" Is February Volume

THE first book by James Branch Cabell to be published under the name Branch Cabell, "These Restless Heads," brings the relieved conviction to his readers that although Manual and Polcfesme may be left forever to the past, there will be no vital change in the Cabell angle of observation or technique. In company with "These Restless Heads" there is published a biography, "James Branch Cabell" by Carl Van Doren which is an appreciative and incisive analysis of the writer and his work. The volume contans short essays about life and thought and writing and living. The book is a McBride publication of this month.

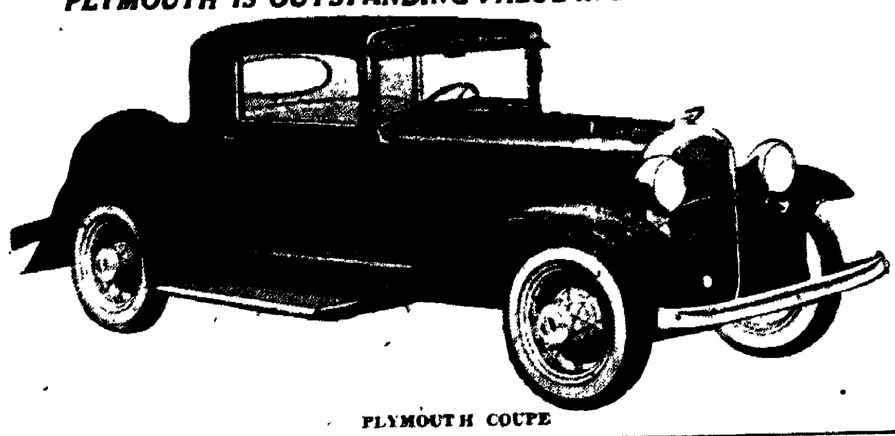
PLYMOUTH IS OUTSTANDING VALUE IN LOW-PRICE FIELD



PLYMOUTH COUPE

PLYMOUTH PIONEER IN FLOATING POWER

Brought This and Other Improvements to Low-Price Field for First Time.

Floating power, undoubtedly the outstanding engineering development of 1931 and claimed by its sponsors to be the most important innovation in motor car designs in two decades, was first introduced in the new four-cylinder Plymouth last July. The Plymouth is sold in Marion by the Wilson Motor Sales Co., rear of the Ohio theater, and the Stoltz Garage, 136 north Prospect street.

Free wheeling, easy-shift transmission, all-steel bodies, double-drop frame and self-equalized hydraulic brakes were also brought to the lowest priced field for the first time by this car.

Prices for the Plymouth range from $535 to $645. There are eight body styles, all with wire wheels as standard equipment: roadster, sport phaeton, coupe with rumble seat, convertible coupe two- door sedan and four-door sedan.

Vibration Eliminated

The term floating power describes the revolutionary method of engine mounting by which the entire power plant is free to rock on its natural axis and by which vibration is non-existent so far as driver and passengers are concerned.

Engineers of Chrysler Motors and Plymouth Motor Corporation at the time it was introduced predicted that floating power, in addition to being the most distinct and noteworthy step forward in the motor world in years, would eventually be applied to all motor cars. That their predictions are well on the way toward realization is attested by the appearance of the new models of all other divisions of Chrysler Motors with floating power and several makes of cars with attempts to duplicate this fundamental principle by other methods and under other names.

Chrysler Motors' engineers recognized the self-starter, the four-wheel brake and the steel body as the three outstanding contributions to motoring prior to the appearance of floating power. They called the latter "the fourth milestone of automotive engineering."

Stronger Than Ever

No longer are any wood parts relied upon to fulfill structural body duty in Hudson and Essex cars. Year by year these bodies have been made more and more completely of steel and the 1932 body is a culmination of this trend. The bodies are built upon a structural system which is unique. The sheathing of the body is not relied upon for its strength. Instead the Hudson and Essex bodies are built on a box girder structural skeleton to which the sheet steel body shell is rigidly and silently secured

Five times the ordinary strength in torsional rigidity is provided in De Soto's new double drop, girder truss frame of the x-type.

ASSERTS NEW CAR RUNS AT NO COST

German Inventor Makes Auto Represented to Generate Own Power.

By International News Service.

BERLIN—What is claimed to be the cheapest automobile of the world has been constructed and successfully tested by Erich Graichen, Thuringian engineer, inventor of "death-rays," and owner of many patents relating to electrodynamic machinery.

Graichen's new car is an electro-pneumatic automobile which generates its own power automatically, and without cost, from water and air while running and even standing. In appearance it resembles a racing car, except for the fact that a radiator is missing altogether.

Graichen has completed a trip of 155 miles from Altenburg to Berlin and predicts that, as a result of this spectacular test, his invention very likely will lead to a revolution in automobile construction.

The new electro-pneumatic automobile runs without any combustion engine and therefore needs neither gasoline nor oil. It is driven by a combination of electric accumulators and a compressed air motor, both of which generate power while the car is running.

The car is started electrically by a magnet mounted on a coasting clutch on the rear axel, similar to a "coaster-brake" on the bicycle There are no other gears. The vibrations of the chassis are transformed into compressed air which is stored and pumped into a pressure cylinder by means of pumps

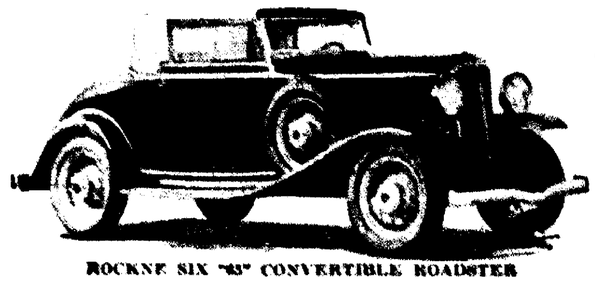
Rockne Six on Market After Careful Planning



ROCKNE SIX "65" CONVERTIBLE ROADSTER

The Rockne Six sold by the Hoch Motor Sales Co., 194 south Prospect street, makes its "show debut" in the current automobile show.

This new automobile has been named in honor of a man who was to have been vice president of the Rockne Motors Corporation, had he lived. The car worthily perpetuates his memory.

The Rockne Six enters the largest, richest and most competitive field of the motor industry.

More than two-thirds of all motor cars sold are in the Rockne Six price group and the trend of retrenchment is bringing more motor car buyers into this field every day.

A great deal of study of the less than $750 market was made during the preparations for the Rockne Six. Every angle of the field was examined with the greatest care by the experienced executive organization of Rockne Motors Corporation.

Decide on Two Lines

It was decided that the Rockne Six would be produced in two lines, one, the "65" priced at $585 and another, the "75" at $685. This gives the dealers a wide spread in the low-price class. It enables them to have a car at a price no one can undersell to the prospect who wants the utmost for his money.

The Rockne officers summed up the features the modern motorist demands, but has never been able to get for less than $1,000 before. They asked the opinions of thousands of successful automobile dealers and gave their many suggestions careful consideration.

Among these features was free-wheeling. They have provided the Rockne Six with an improved and perfected free-wheeling with all of the gas-saving, oil-saving and wear-saving advantage of this modern aid to motoring. Conventional gear control is located at the driver's finger tip on the dash.

WIDE RANGE OF STYLES

The Cadillac Motor Car company could build 20,000 cars this year and never duplicate a single car, according to L. P. Fisher, president. This enormous range is possible because of the infinite variety of combinations of finish, upholstery, wheels, and body styles in the new Cadillac-LaSalle line.

PACKARD

FOR 1932

IN announcing its program for 1932, Packard has been conscious of the desirability for stabilization. In presenting now its plans for the year, it hopes to dispel uncertainty—at least insofar as Packard is concerned—as to later developments. ¶ Toward that end it is announcing now two new lines of cars for delivery shortly—the Twin Six and the Light Eight. These new lines will be in addition to Packard's present very popular Standard Eight and Eight De Luxe models, and with them will completely cover the fine car field in all price ranges from $1750 upward. ¶ Prices have been established on its entire four lines of cars so low that only an anticipated increase in volume can justify them. Packard expects to supply no other models of these cars before the close of the year and any price changes are more likely to be upward than down.

FOUR LUXURIOUS LINES OF PACKARD CARS AT FOUR DISTINCT RANGES OF PRICE

The Twin Six

The supremely luxurious Packard Twin Six is a new and sensational achievement embodying sixteen years of continuous experience with twelve-cylinder designs. It is offered in two wheelbase lengths—142 and 147 inches—with a wide range of standard and individual custom bodies. Chassis include Packard's New Synchro-mesh Transmission, quiet in all three speeds, Finger Control Free-Wheeling and Ride Control, the original system of dash-adjustable shock absorbers. When you consider the performance possibilities of the conservatively rated and economically developed 150 horsepower of the new Twin Six you will be surprised at its price.

FACTORY PRICES $3650 to $4395

The Standard Eight

The famous Packard Standard Eight, the most popular, widely acclaimed Packard car in history, is available as in the past in thirteen beautiful models on 130 and 137 inch chassis. Now, with Synchro-mesh Transmission, quiet in all three speeds, and Finger Control Free-Wheeling, both optional at no extra cost, it becomes an even more outstanding value in the fine car field than ever. Automatic chassis lubrication and Ride Control add to its riding ease. Complete body insulation excludes noise and temperature, prevents the development of squeaks and rattles. A distinguished car for those whose motoring standards are high.

FACTORY PRICES $2250 to $3250

The Eight De Luxe

The New Packard Eight De Luxe is the companion car to the superb new Twin Six. It is the supreme development of Packard's ten years of straight-eight engineering and will continue to rank as the world's finest eight-cylinder car. Like the Twin Six it is offered on chassis of 142 and 147 inch wheelbase and with a wide choice of standard and individual custom bodies available. With its new features—Synchro-mesh Transmission, quiet in all three speeds, and Finger Control Free-Wheeling, both available as optional equipment at no extra cost—it brings luxurious transportation in a greatly enhanced degree to the discriminating Packard clientele.

FACTORY PRICES $3150 to $3695

The Light Eight

The new Light Eight—Packard in design, Packard in quality and, therefore Packard in name—is offered in four large, beautiful and completely modern models, all on a chassis of 128 inch wheelbase, with eight-in-line motor of 110 horsepower, Angleset Rear Axle and the new double drop frame. Like all current model Packard cars, the new Light Eight provides Synchro-mesh Transmission, quiet in all three speeds, and Finger Control Free-Wheeling. Thousands who have long desired the luxury of Packard transportation can now enjoy it, for the Packard Light Eight costs no more to buy or to operate than cars providing far less in size, performance and prestige.

FACTORY PRICES $1750 to $1795

More Extensive Changes Than Any Time Since Advance to 6-Cylinder.

Heralded as "the great American value for 1932," the new Chevrolet appears at the Marion automobile show this year with more extensive changes in design than any annual Chevrolet model since the car was changed from four to six-cylinders in 1928. The Chevrolet is sold in Marion by the Haberman Chevrolet Co., 295-301 west Center street.

Offering silent syncro-mesh transmission in combination with selective free-wheeling, a 20 per cent increase in power, top speed of 65 to 70 miles an hour, streamlined bodies and a wealth of other new features, the new car remains in the lowest price range at which a Chevrolet has ever sold—from $475 to $675.

12 Standard Styles

Twelve standard body styles are in the line this year, three open and nine closed Fisher bodies, all in new Duco color combinations and all with smart new features. In addition, eight models also are available with deluxe equipment, making possible individuality of ownership and providing selection from 20 different types.

Practically every proven automobile feature of recent years is incorporated in the new 1932 Chevrolet, as well as a new "stabilized" front end construction embodied for the first time in any car. Improvements in the '32 line over last year's models include down-draft carburetion, counter balanced crankshaft, smaller wheels and larger tires, radically changed front end appearance, "finger touch" front seat adjustment, cowl ventilator on all models, hood doors instead of louvres, improved clutch and an additional cross member in the frame.

Of the mechanical changes, the most important is the new Chevrolet-built transmission unit, which combines syncro-mesh with simplified free wheeling as standard equipment at no extra cost. Free Wheeling is provided by an overrunning clutch, engaged at the discretion of the driver by a control button on the instrument panel. This optional feature enables the driver to utilize the full breaking power of the engine if he desires, and to use the free wheeling only when traffic conditions make it desirable.

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, Feb. 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope may not be considered a very favorable one, although there is a sign of a more or less fortunate change or pleasant journey. There is a threat of danger in employment or friction with superiors which may result in financial loss and peril to standing and welfare. Guard the tongue and temper.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of some interesting change or travel, although it may be at the loss of prestige, standing and favoritism with employers or those in authority. A child born on this day may be inclined to be tempestuous and aggressive, perhaps, leaning to speculation, extravagance and general high pressure methods.

For Monday, Feb. 15

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for some very surprising developments in the affairs, which assume highly speculative and unexpected aspects. These have bearing on the fortunes of many kinds, having to do with speculative enterprises, investments, landed possessions and industry and labor generally.

Those whose birthday it is may look to a year of surprising, but gratifying developments in their affairs. Unexpected increase through speculation, investments and landed possessions, as well as in industry, labor, etc., are assured, but be on guard against schemes and treachery. Personal associations and assistance enhance the general good fortunes, especially through elderly persons. A child born on this day should have great native ability, being hard working and practical.

LONG PLYMOUTH LINE

The final assembly lines at the plant of the Plymouth Motor Corporation in Detroit are straight, unbroken lines more than 1,300 feet in length.

TROUBLE ELIMINATORS

The "centrifuse" brake drums employed on the new De Soto Six eliminate the cause of squeaking shoes and periodical adjustments, while possessing remarkable wear-resisting qualities.

GREATER DRIVING VISION

Difficulty in watching overhead traffic lights is largely eliminated with the sharply sloping windshield on the new Cadillacs and LaSalles which gives the driver 30 per cent more vision.

UNIVERSAL COMPANY OPERATING 5 STORES

High Quality Merchandise and Service Brings Success to Local Concern.

One of the most rapidly growing concerns of its kind in this section of Ohio is the Universal Tire & Supply Co., which recently added a fifth store to its list.

It operates in Marion at 143 north Main street and 253 west Center street, both place carrying complete lines of tires and automobile accessories.

This firm's remarkable growth, much of it developed during a period when business generally was on the decline, is regarded as a convincing testimonial to the high quality of merchandise and the first class service that constitute its methods of operation.

Marathon tires are featured by the Universal company. This line has been handled for a number of years by the company and the steadily increasing sales of Marathons have proven their popularity with the motoring public.

First To Cross Trail.

A Plymouth roadster was the first four-wheel vehicle of any description to cross the heretofore impassable Indian Gap Trail in the Smoky mountains of North Carolina. A. H. Hoff, proprietor of the Mountain View hotel, Smokemont, made the trip in four hours and 45 minutes from Catlinburg, Tenn., to Smokemont, a distance of 24 miles, 10 of which had never before been traveled except on foot or by horseback. The mountain at this spot is 5,500 feet high.

Gas Economy Proven.

Last summer, three stock Free Wheeling Studebaker President Eight roadsters participated in a coast-to-coast goodwill run sponsored by the Elks Magazine. An official check of the cars at their destination showed an average saving of 32 per cent in gas and oil in 24,367 miles of travel.

TIRE SAFETY EMPHASIZED

Firestone Policy Explained by Head of Agency in Marion.

"Building safety into tires," is one of the predominant principles now being emphasized by the Firestone Tire & Rubber company, O. E. Bonnell, president and manager of Firestone Service Stores, Inc., says in commenting on the tire industry of today. The company headed by Mr. Bonnell operates a complete tire supply and service station at 273 253 east Center street.

"Firestone has been the leader in developing tire construction to meet the high speeds of today," the local dealer says. "This construction has been proven in the great Indianapolis races where year after year Firestones have carried all the winners to victory.

"Race drivers were the first to recognize the real responsibility of a tire. Their major problems are steering and tire performance. In reality it is only one problem, that of steering, because there are actually three steering wheels on every automobile one in the driver's hand and two on the road. The failure of any one means immediate danger.

"Ask the average car owner what starts his car and he will invariably say 'the engine.' But in actuality the engine will only spin the wheels—it is the tires gripping to the road that really start the car. And, also, it is the tires clinging to the road that stops his car when he applies the brakes.

"Firestone has developed the greatest advances ever known in the history of tire building to give inbuilt safety even beyond the severe demands of today.

"The Firestone Gum-Dipping Process minimizes internal heat and friction—the greatest enemy of tire life and safety."

SEVERE TEST USED

To what extent an automobile will withstand the most severe road shocks is determined by one of the most gruelling and wracking tests that is to be found in the automotive industry—the Belgian Roll. This test, used constantly by Dodge Brothers engineers, brings out in comparatively short time, body and chassis failures not apt to develop under thousands of miles of average driving.

BRAKES WELL PROTECTED

Safety demands that brakes be efficient at all times. To meet this requirement the 1932 Oldsmobile brakes are fully enclosed against water or dirt so that their efficiency is unimpaired by weather conditions.

LUSCH TIRES MEET POPULAR DEMAND

High Standard Products Sold at Low Prices; Full Line of Accessories.

The Lusch Tire & Battery Service, 368 north Main street has one of the most complete stocks of tires and accessories in the city. Everything that the motorist needs combined with prompt and efficient service, is available at the Lusch super-station.

Federal and Pharis tires are included in the Lusch line. The Pharis factory at Newark, O., is now operating on a full schedule turning out tires to meet the constantly growing demand for its product. The company is making these tires at the lowest possible figure, eliminating nearly all profit to the factory, in order to promote sales and provide employment for the largest possible number of men. The amazingly low price at which these tires may be purchased, however is not the chief attraction of purchasers. The Pharis tire is bought primarily because of its record of long service.

OLDSMOBILE IS PIONEER

Oldsmobile is the oldest name in the automobile industry dating back to 1897 and in continuous production since its inception.

AGAIN
THE GREAT AMERICAN VALUE
stands
first

first IN SALES

During the year 1931, the Chevrolet Motor Company manufactured and sold more passenger cars than any other organization in the automobile industry. Again, the world's most popular motor car is the six-cylinder Chevrolet.

first AT THE SHOWS

In recognition of this worldwide leadership in manufacturing and sales, Chevrolet has, for the fifth consecutive year, been awarded the honor position—First Display Space—at the National Automobile Shows in New York and Chicago.

first IN VALUE FOR 1932

The new six that Chevrolet is presenting at the National Automobile Shows is a car that fully deserves the place of honor. It is such an outstanding example of quality at low cost that it easily represents the Great American Value for 1932.

Merely to mention a few high points of the new Chevrolet Six is enough to prove its right to First Place at the Shows. The new Chevrolet is the first and only low-priced car to combine Free Wheeling with that finest development in safe, easy, quiet gear-shifting—the Syncro-Mesh transmission. It is the first and only low-priced car to have a 60-horsepower valve-in-head six-cylinder engine that delivers 65 to 70 miles an hour speed—and operates with matchless economy. The first and only low-priced car to provide a combination of down-draft carburetion, rubber engine mountings, a counterbalanced crankshaft and stabilized front fenders. The only low-priced car to provide bodies by Fisher—and this year Chevrolet bodies again reveal a brilliant new note in fine-car styling.

Chevrolet invites you to see this new car on view at your Chevrolet dealer's showroom. You will find one feature after another to emphasize the fact: The Chevrolet Six now has a better right than ever to leadership in the industry—has a better right than ever to be known as the Great American Value!
